MINISTER BACK FROM THE 'DEAD'

... Missing Since 'Drowning' In April

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An Episcopal minister believed drowned in an Idaho lake two months ago returned from the dead Sunday in San Francisco's Grace Cathedral.

The Rev. Andrew Daughters, 37-year-old rector of the Episcopal Church at Pasco, Wash., said "the last thing I remember is crawling out of a lake."

"I feel as if I was coming out of a long tunnel," he told the Associated Press.

After a tearful telephone conversation with his supposed widow, Carlene, he left by plane for Portland, Ore., and home where members of his congregation had held memorial services and started an educational fund for his four sons.

The Rev. Mr. Daughters has been believed to have drowned last April 26 after his small boat was found overturned on Lake Couer d'Alene.

Guidance

He said he thought divine guidance led him to Grace Cathedral where a friend of his sister happened to be conducting services Sunday. After communion services Daughters, dressed in working clothes, sought out Canon Richard Byfield and nervously asked for a private talk. Told to "begin at the beginning," he said: "I'm afraid I can't do that. I-I think I'm a minister and the last thing I remember is crawling out of a lake."

By a strange quirk of fate, Byfield helped restore Daughters' memory.

Byfield was familiar with the circumstances of Daughters' supposed drowning because he knew the rector's sister, Mrs. Harold Fleharty, wife of a clergyman at Spokane, Wash. The name "Daughters" flashed in his mind and he said it aloud.

"If you could have seen his face light up, I think you couldn't doubt that memory flooded back at that instant," Byfield said. "Then he burst into tears."

The church canon took the rector to his home, and at first telephoned to the Rev. Charles May, an Episcopal rector at Kennewick, Wash., who knows Daughters. An exchange of first names and other family data convinced May that the identification was certain enough to put the call through to Mrs. Carlene Daughters, the rector's wife in Pasco.

At the airport as he waited for his plane Daughters told an Associated Press reporter, "I feel so uncertain, it's as if I were coming out of a tunnel."

The short, bespectacled pastor was dressed in a brown tweed suit, wearing the ministerial turnaround collar and a black vest.

Daughters was reluctant to talk. He said he dreaded the publicity attendant upon his reappearance.

Daughters, father of four sons, was presumed dead after a storm on the lake at Couer d'Alene, when his small battered and empty boat was found washed ashore. His automobile was parked where he had left it, near the shore. The accident occurred while Daughters was at a church conference center at Couer d'Alene.

The minister said he was unable to give any account of the two months he has "lost out of his life." But he said he could recall the circumstances of the day he disappeared. It's "come back in bits and pieces."

Scattered showers and thunderstorms were expected to start off the month of July Monday with most of the precipitation predicted for afternoon and evening.

High temperatures were expected to be between 85 and 95 Monday.

INTRUDER RAPES, ROBS WOMAN, 59

... In Lincoln

Police were looking Sunday for a man who reportedly beat, raped and robbed a 59-year-old single woman in the bedroom of her darkened apartment early Sunday morning.

A large diamond ring, mounted in a platinum setting and valued at $1,500, was wrested from her little finger, she told police.

Police said the woman saw the man about a foot from her bed. She screamed and the man struck her and told her to shut up, she told police.

The man then raped her and took the diamond ring, she told police. The unidentified attacker, apparently entered her room by crawling through a bathroom transom from an adjoining supply room.

The woman suffered lacerations about her head and ear. Police said the man entered the apartment and did not turn on any lights. The victim told police she could not describe the man.

Police theorize that she may have been unconscious part of the time. The attack occurred about 2 a.m.

LAFB Radar Pitches In As Tornado Guard

Tracking of severe weather and tornado producing clouds in southeast Nebraska has been undertaken by Ground Control Approach radar operators to assist Lincoln Air Force Base weather observers.

Weather officials at the Eighth Air Force base claim it is the first time a GCA unit, used primarily to locate and guide aircraft to safe landings, has been used in the growing season of watching weather by radar.

However, the radar personnel point out that residents in the area should realize that the tracking of severe weather is strictly a secondary duty.

The nearest actual weather tracking radar units are located at Weather Bureaus in Omaha, Norfolk and Kansas City. Weather personnel at the base anticipate installation of weather radar by August.

Voluntarily Watch

Several GCA operators have voluntarily watched storms during the past month that saw as many as 20 tornadoes sighted in the state in a day.

M/Sgt. George W. LeRoy Jr. of Spokane, Wash., said he was extremely curious about weather phenomena. He spent nearly 25 hours tracking storms within a 40-mile radius of Lincoln during June.

NEW YORK (AP)—Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, urging "active" efforts by the East and West to achieve peaceful coexistence, says he believes world leaders now have concluded that international problems can be settled by negotiation.

He said he thinks responsible statesmen also have concluded that an armaments race "can only open the possibility" of a third world war.

The 65-year-old President who broke away from the Soviet orbit in 1948 and established his own brand of communism—Titoism—was seen and heard Sunday in a filmed TV interview by Edward R. Murrow and telecast over the CBS network.

The interview took place on Brioni, a small island in the Adriatic Sea off the Dalmatian coast of Yugoslavia. Also present during the discussion at Tito's villa was his wife, Mrs. Joseph Broz, and an interpreter. Murrow said no questions were asked in advance.

Commenting on keeping peace in the world, Tito said:

"I think that the best solution is coexistence. Of course, not a passive coexistence just to live one beside the other, but an active coexistence in which we should strive to solve peacefully by way of negotiation and agreement all the problems which could arise..."

No Reason

"Now, if all those responsible for international affairs agree to the practice of solving international problems peacefully by negotiation and agreement, then there is no reason for an armaments race."

"I think that the responsible statesmen have today already come to that conclusion, and that the question of the armaments race can only open the possibility of a new world's tragedy."

Tito, who understands English very well but speaks it only in private conversation, spoke in his native tongue excepting for a few words here and there to clear up phraseology.

The marshal laughed when asked to comment on the prediction of Russian leaders Bulganin and Khrushchev that the grandchildren of Americans would be living under socialism.

Up to U. S.

"I wouldn't say so categorically," said Tito, "because it is up to the American people to decide what system of society it will develop and what system it would prefer."

On the same theme, Tito continued: "Of course we should abandon the idea of intervening, of mixing in the internal affairs of each other... if the majority of the people is decided to have a socialist system, then nobody has the right to try to impose another system."

Help Asked

VIENNA (INS)—Communist Hungarian officials reportedly have asked U. S. help in obtaining Salk polio vaccine to combat a serious outbreak of the dread disease.

Informed American sources in Budapest reported that the Hungarian government has made an unofficial approach for help to the U. S. legation in the Hungarian capital.

At the same time, Tito said, "today there is an ideological struggle and I can't agree with the practice, for instance, in the West that any progressive movement or move should be labeled or called Communist."

Tito said "there is some difference" between communism in Yugoslavia and in the Soviet Union but "these are not big, ideological differences... We have the same aim, that is to say the building of socialism and communism."

For the past few years, he said, his policy has aimed at wide decentralization of government in both the economic and administrative fields.

"Our foreign policy is known," Tito said. "We are not in any of the existing blocs. We stand for the principles of coexistence."

Heiress Dies, Dad Arrested

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—A frail 12-year-old heiress to $153,000 died in her San Francisco home Sunday, and police seized her father on suspicion of manslaughter.

Police said Robert O. Blakely, 40, a former iceman who has been jobless for a year, admitted "pushing" Nancy Elaine Blakely to the floor after rebuking her "for sneaking out nights."

The coroner's office reported death was caused by "a blow or blows, or jarring of the head."

Corner Henry W. Turkel said the 80-pound child's body bore numerous bruises, some new and some old.

Homicide Inspector Ralph McDonald quoted Blakely as saying when the body was removed from the home:

"There goes a million bucks."

Sea Captain

Nancy inherited a fortune in trust from her late godfather William Rosendall, a sea captain, who died seven years ago at the age of 90.

Blakely was booked on suspicion of manslaughter and taken to San Francisco Hospital for psychiatric examination.

Police said they were informed the Blakelys had kept the girl under close supervision, with locks on her bedroom windows. She invariably was walked to and from school by her mother, Irma.

Blakely said Capt. Rosendall's will provided that Nancy would have obtained control of the principal of the $153,000 estate when she became 21. However, with her death the money will go to other beneficiaries, authorities were informed.

Louisiana's Death Toll Upped To 350

... Health Menace Rises With Heat

By ARTHUR EVERETT

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—The estimated toll of Louisiana's hurricane dead was revised upward again Sunday, this time to 350 persons. The somber task of marshalling the victims was made urgent by a growing threat of pestilence.

Bulldozers and cranes finally got through to the area devastated by last Thursday's great storm. As they jockeyed aside the debris, Larry Stephenson, local defense director, revised the death toll estimate upward.

He said he was positive uncounted victims lay hidden beneath wreckage or floated in marsh and bayou waters that slowly ebbed back to sea.

Six airplanes were assigned to spray the area with insecticides. The health menace was heightened by shimmering heat that held a humid grip on the ravaged coastal area.

Flatboats and helicopters continued to team in a search of the marshlands for bodies. Oil company marsh "buggies," whose huge rubber tires enable them to roll through mud and water, joined the search.

A fleet of Army heavy-duty equipment lined up here awaiting a signal to move on the coastal towns all but wiped out by the storm. The signal came shortly after dawn with word that a way of entry had been cleared.

Destruction

As the caravan rumbled south from here toward the gulf coast, a panorama of destruction unfolded. On either side of the road lay homes torn from their foundations. The wreckage was the silent abode of snakes, some of them poisonous, and rats. There was little trace of the humans who had once lived in them.

Thus far, 172 bodies had been recovered. President Eisenhower's personal representative on the scene, Val Peterson, former federal Civil Defense head, said of the eventual death toll:

"The very unofficial guess of all officials here is a low of a little more than 200 dead to a guess of a high around 500."

Peterson could only say of the uncalculated millions of dollars livestock and property damage that it "is very high."

The task of rescuing survivors of the season's first hurricane was all but over. The urgency now was recovering bodies, animal and human, which a local health official said may soon "constitute a menace to health."

Health Problem

Peterson told the president, in a phone call to the White House, "there is a very great health problem because of the bodies of both human beings and animals. All of the health agencies are working very hard."

For the first time a road was opened to the Cameron area, center of the hard-hit southwestern tip of Louisiana. Since the hurricane and its accompanying 20-foot tidal wave swept out of the Gulf of Mexico, the area had been accessible by air or sea.

After Eisenhower received Pet-erson's report by telephone at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm where he is week-ending, White House press secretary James C. Haggerty said:

"The President is following the work very closely."

The chief executive designated western Louisiana and eastern Texas major disaster areas eligible for federal relief funds.

Gov. Earl K. Long inspected the hurricane area during the day. Previously, Gen. Alfred Gruenther (ret.), president of the American Red Cross, toured the scene and announced:

"The loss of life is going to be higher than in any similar disaster this country has experienced in a long time."

★ ★ ★ APPEAL MADE

Lancaster County Red Cross director Harold Hill has received a telegram from President Eisenhower making a nationwide appeal for funds to aid victims of Hurricane Audrey.

The public appeal, the message said, is for funds for family relief. National appropriations will go mainly for restoration and emergency rebuilding of vital municipal functions.

Harold Hinds, local chapter president, advised those who want to help to make their contributions to the Lancaster County Red Cross office at 312 So. 12.

SEARCH FOR 6 ESCAPEES MOVES INTO NEBRASKA

DENVER (INS)—The U. S. 5th Army and the Colorado State Patrol extended their search Sunday for six prisoners who escaped from the Lowry Air Base guardhouse at Denver.

The state patrol extended their alerts east to Nebraska, while 5th Army jurisdiction extends from Chicago to Louisiana west to Salt Lake City.

The six men escaped Saturday night at check-out time after hitting air policeman Richard Fouts with a metal pipe section when he was making the rounds.

Base officials said four of the men were being held in the medium security stockade for being absent without leave. One of the other two men, Airmen Dewitt Swartz, was awaiting transfer to a federal prison.

Selleck Retires Two Of Three Posts

By BETTY PERSON

Star Staff Writer

John K. Selleck closed the door on two of his three positions with the University of Nebraska Saturday, those of business manager and comptroller, but will continue as corporation secretary handling records of the Board of Regents.

The 67-year-old Selleck said he views his retirement with "mixed feelings," but cites as outstanding in his 35½ years with the university his "association with a lot of very fine people, both students and faculty members."

Selleck first came to the University of Nebraska campus in 1908 as a freshman student and graduated in 1912 with a degree in electrical engineering.

The Iron Fence

The Nebraska campus in 1908 covered four blocks and was surrounded by an iron fence, which, incidentally was purchased for Wyuka Cemetery and now stands on the south side of the burial grounds along "O" Street.

Selleck has watched and helped the University of Nebraska grow until its downtown campus now covers 36 blocks.

Stating that the University of Nebraska is a "prairie campus and always will be one," Selleck said nevertheless it has grown to be a "very attractive one" of which its state can be proud.

Following his graduation from the University, Selleck was associ-

Slashes In Appropriations Bills Offer Little Hope For Drop In Spending

Cuts Total $1 Billion As Fiscal 1957 Ends

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress so far has cut $1,148,212,687 off nine appropriation bills for fiscal 1958 starting Monday but these offer little hope for actual spending cuts in the year ahead.

As fiscal 1957 closed Sunday, the lawmakers actually have sent eight of the money bills for the coming year to President Eisenhower.

The House has acted on the conference report on a bill, the $456,189,600 Interior Department bill, and the Senate is expected to complete legislation action on it quickly Monday.

However, five of the appropriation measures—including the largest, defense—remain to be acted on.

As a result Rep. Cannon (D-Mo.), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, plans to offer a special resolution Monday to permit agencies whose money bills have not been passed to continue in business in the new fiscal year.

Besides defense, the bills still awaiting action include agriculture, public works which includes rivers, harbors and flood control projects, foreign aid, and a catch-all supplemental which will carry funds for military public works projects and the atomic energy program among other allotments.

Before Fourth The Senate starts debate on a $34,334,299,000 defense measure Monday and expects to pass it and send it to conference with the House by the Fourth of July recess.

The Senate Appropriations Committee, in sending the bill to the floor, restored $371,504,000 of the House cuts. This amounted to all but about 250 million of the hard cash reductions voted by the House.

Each of the nine 1958 bills on which Congress has completed work—including interior in the list—has been cut below Eisenhower's budget requests.

But, for a variety of reasons, the $1,148,212,687 in appropriations cuts is not likely to have anything approaching a dollar-for-dollar effect in reducing spending.

After 1958 For one thing, much of the spending in the year ahead will be out of appropriations bills passed in previous sessions. And, much of the money carried in bills passed this year will be spent after fiscal 1958.

Also, many of the cuts this year have been voted in items such as veterans' pensions and old age assistance grants. All of this money will have to be put back in supplemental bills if distribution is at the expected rate.

The lawmakers already have sent to Eisenhower one 133 million dollar supplemental bill for the Post Office Department which restores a 58 million cut made in the regular 1958 bill and gives the agency 75 million extra.

Some of the appropriations cuts voted this year are mere book-keeping transactions which do not affect spending, either. For instance, in the commerce bill Congress slashed 65 million off the new money for ship operating subsidies, but then gave the Maritime Administration the right to pick up 65 million out of an old unused allotment.

As a result, congressional staff experts have forecast that the spending in fiscal 1958 actually will exceed the $71,800,000,000 forecast by the President in January, perhaps by more than a billion dollars.

Mabel L. Bridges, Former Wisconsin Instructor, Dies

Mabel L. Bridges of 4435 Madison died late Sunday evening.

A resident of Lincoln for the past 10 years, she taught public school and college for about 30 years in Wisconsin. She was born in Sterling.

Miss Bridges was a member of the First Methodist Church. Survivors include two sisters, Dorothy Bridges of Lincoln and Mrs. Marguerite McGrath of Des Moines, Ia., two nieces and four nephews.

Three Men Booked For Investigation

Three Lincoln men, 21, 20 and 17, were booked in the city jail on open charges for investigation in connection with the theft of 10 car transmissions from a shed at 2233 No. 28th.

Lra Morgan of 2444 P had been driving cars in the shed. Police valued the loss at $50.

SELLECK RETIRES

Selleck modestly says that he was "very lucky" in serving the University at the time he did. "I was with the athletic department when it started its big building program and all you had to do was stand at the window and take the money for the tickets," he commented.

"And shortly after I transferred over as business manager and comptroller," he continued, "the Legislature passed the institutional building fund levy which made possible the expansion on the campus."

Selleck said he "hopes those same opportunities" will present themselves to his successors.

Outstanding Instructors

Asked about outstanding instructors who impressed him during his student days, Selleck recalled Prof. Tuckerman, an ambidextrous physics instructor who was a "toughie," and Prof. Richards, who became dean of the College of Engineering.

Selleck mentioned former Cornhusker coaches Dana Bible and Biff Jones, former Dean of the Faculty Carl Borgmann, and former Chancellor R. G. Gustavson as just a few of the many associates he has enjoyed at the University.

One of his favorite students was Cornhusker football "great" George Sauer, now athletic director at Baylor University.

Asked about problems facing the University of Nebraska, Selleck cited the increased enrollment which is expected to bring an additional 5,000 students to the NU campus by 1965.

Of specific concern, in his opinion, is the need for "adequate teaching personnel."

Lack of Qualified Instructors Selleck said, "We'll get the

RAINS AID LADY MAYOR OF DUNBAR

By BRUCE BRUGMANN Star Staff Writer

DUNBAR — The third of Nebraska's three women mayors, who claims she didn't want the job in the first place, found her biggest problem resolved by the onslaught of torrential rains which fell this spring upon southeastern Nebraska.

Mrs. Carl Weiler, elected mayor in April of this year, unassuming town of 230 persons, discovered the hamlet was faced with an ebbing water supply, which appeared to be getting more depleted daily.

A number of emergency proposals were brought before the five-member town council, the most feasible one of which appeared to be for the village to install water meters at a minimal $10 cost to each family.

Scattered, but strong opposition faced the recommendation, both at the council meetings and at a mass meeting scheduled in the local schoolhouse. But nothing concrete was decided—one way or the other.

'You Know How They Are'

"You know how these things are," the chipper, 62-year-old mayor commented.

Suddenly, as if provoked by city orderlies, the rains came, and swelled the water reservoirs—if not substantially, at least enough to temporarily solve the water problem and relieve Mayor Weiler of her first official difficulty.

Mrs. Weiler was nominated for a position on the council by Art Anderson, Dunbar filling station operator, and ran along with five other candidates for the three vacancies on the village governing board.

She received the highest number of ballots cast, which authorized her automatically to become the town mayor. Mrs. Weiler said she didn't want the job, but decided to accept it with some misgivings when the town council prevailed upon her to take it.

With Missings

Other members of the council are Leroy Anderson, Adolph Reuter, Arnold Draeger and Howard Miller. Another woman, Mrs. Alice Anderson wife of the councilman, also crashed the select, normally male circle of village governing officials by being selected clerk of the council.

The first lady of Dunbar joins Mrs. John McCluhan of Winnebago and Mrs. Arabella P. Hanna of Superior as Nebraska's only three women mayors.

Mrs. Weiler, who has lived about 33 years in Dunbar with her husband Carl, says she isn't pushing any special projects at the moment. "I'm sort of taking things as they come."

More Than 800 Hear City Band In First Concert

An audience of more than 800 persons heard the Lincoln Municipal Band give the first in its series of Sunday evening summer concerts at the Antelope Park band shell.

John Shildneck conducted the band and soloists were Virginia Duxbury, singer, and Dale Joy, trumpet player.

The Sunday concerts will be presented at 7:30 a.m. for the next five weeks.

The 1957 series is being sponsored jointly by Local 463 of the Lincoln Musicians Association and by the city of Lincoln. The musicians local received a grant for the purpose from the recording industries fund of the American Federation of Musicians.

INVESTIGATION CONTINUES IN PAXTON DEATH

TRYON, Neb. — Sheriff Bill Neal said Sunday investigators still were checking out leads in the death of Jay Leadabrand, whose body was found in his lonely ranch house 20 miles north of Paxton Tuesday.

He had been dead several days. A coroner's jury Thursday decided to wait on a medical report before attempting to rule in the case.

Sheriff Neal said there had been no weekend developments in the case.

Several chairs were found overturned in the 63-year-old Sandhills rancher's home. However, a billfold containing $36, a gold watch and a locked safe apparently had not been touched.

A North Platte physician said he was performing an autopsy still was awaiting a report from the state Safety Patrol's laboratory in Lincoln on tissue he sent for examination.

The doctor said he could not tell results of the autopsy until the report was received.

Two Booked At City Jail In Assault Case

Two 18-year-old men, a truck driver and an airman, were booked in at the city jail on open charges in connection with the assault of Joseph R. Beagle, of Kansas City, Mo., between 14th and 15th on L. Beagle was knocked out when hit over the head and $40 was taken along with a billfold, he told police.

WHAT NEXT? IT'S A TRIP VIA HORSEBACK

By BILL DOBLER Star Staff Writer

Thinking of a cross-country vacation by car this year?

This is the mode of transportation for many people but two young men from Kentucky are doing it the hard way. They are traveling from Chaplin, Ky., to California, some 2,400 miles, on horseback.

The pair would not agree it was the hard way, however, even though it does take more time.

One of two, Sanford Cheatham, said people along the way "have been wonderful. Farmers have taken us right in for a night's lodging, supper and breakfast."

Only twice on their trip to date have they had to camp out. They left Chaplin, near Louisville, June 2 and arrived with their steeds in Lincoln this past weekend.

Early Monday morning, after a rest and horseshoeing job, the two adventurers will mount up and head out Highway 34 . . . destination Grand Island and then Cheyenne, Wyo. At Cheyenne, the two will stay long enough to make enough money to finance the remainder of the journey to California.

What then? "If we can find jobs and like it there," Cheatham said, "we will stay. If not, we will go back to Chaplin."

Naturally, both have spent their entire lives on a farm in Kentucky.

Cheatham and his friend, Dale Simpson, travel at the rate of about 30 miles a day.

Great Explosion On Sun Kicks Off An 18-Month Earth And Space Checkup

Alert Flashed To Scientists

WASHINGTON (AP)—A great explosion on the sun struck the earth Sunday with vast magnetic hurricanes and electric storms.

An alert was quickly flashed to 10,000 scientists around the world to make special studies of everything that happens and what it means.

Radio blackouts are expected in many places within 24 hours. Warnings were sent ships and planes which depend on radio navigation.

The solar explosion or flare erupted in perfect timing to launch the International Geophysical Year (IGY)—a great head-to-toe check-up of the earth and space by scientists of 61 nations.

The 18-month "year" which started at 6 p.m., CST, Sunday night and lasting until 1959, was set at this time because sunspots and flares on the sun are expected to reach a maximum then.

Vast Study

"The universe itself co-operated in heralding the vast scientific study," said A. H. Shapley, vice-chairman of the IGY committee of the National Academy of Sciences.

The sun flare, a vast geyser of gas and radiation and atomic particles, occurred two days ago. Its effects are just being felt.

Moscow scientists co-operating in IGY first detected the flare.

Sun particles and radiation are creating magnetic storms high in our atmosphere "as tempestuous as hurricanes are" on earth, Shapley said. "Electrical tempests started early Sunday, violently racking the magnetic fields stretching out to 10,000 miles above the earth."

At 2,000 observing stations from pole to pole and cross the seas, IGY scientists were ready for just such an event.

Moscow alerted IGY communication centers around the world, including the IGY world warning agency at Fort Belvoir, Va.

Services Set For Albert Thoroman, Retired Teacher

Funeral services for Albert M. Thoroman, 83, of 1947 So. 16th, retired school teacher and superintendent, will be 11 a.m. Tuesday at Wall-Diffenderfer Funeral Home in Topeka, Kan., with the Rev. Calvin Ukena of Lincoln officiating.

Burial will be at Mount Hope Cemetery, Topeka.

Mr. Thoroman, who died Sunday, had been a resident of Lincoln since 1949. Previously he taught at Council Grove, Cottenwood Falls and Iola, Kan., and served as secretary on the Kansas State School Book Committee from 1915 to 1918.

Born at Agricola, Kan., he attended Emporia State Teachers College and graduated from the University of Kansas, where he was a Phi Beta Kappa.

He was a member of the Masonic Lodge and the Rotary Club at Iola.

Survivors include his wife, Nancy C.; one daughter, Mrs. Richard Garlinghouse of Lincoln; one sister, Mrs. Will Cummin of Topeka, Kan.; eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Long Lost Relatives Meet

By BRUCE BRUGMAN
Star Staff Writer

Two sisters and a brother, separated for about 50 years, came together recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Turley of 5235 Stockwell Road.

For the trio, considerably changed since they were last together in a Kansas orphanage, it marked the near perfect climax to the painstaking, exasperating, but finally rewarding search by the Turley couple to find their far-flung in-laws.

Mrs. Gladys Hess and Mrs. Agnes May Smith—both of San Francisco, Calif.—and John Turley, all of whom lost track of each other after they were placed in a children's home at Atchinson, Kans.—met together here for the first time.

Lincoln Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Turley had visited with each of the sisters previously, but the Lincoln reunion marked the first time the group had been together.

Only regret in the get-together was that the third sister, Irene, second oldest of the four, died in 1956, almost a year prior to the belated meeting.

The four children—John, 4; Gladys, 2; Agnes, 8; and Irene, 6, had been placed in the founding home July 22, 1908. Shortly thereafter, the children, one by one, were sent to live with nearby families.

Early Age

The early age of the children and the incompleteness of the home's records combined to make the job of locating the family virtually impossible.

Each of the four—at one time or another—tried to find the others, but not until John married Mrs. Turley in Lincoln in 1934 did the project get into motion.

Not until 1938, however, four years after the Turleys began their intensive search, did the locate their first sister, Gladys. She was finally located, by tracking down an 11 year-old address in San Francisco.

Contacted Earlier

Gladys had earlier been contacted by Irene, and, therefore, three of the group were located.

It was not until 1956 that Agnes, the last of the four children, was found—again by a bewildering coincidence. The Turleys, coming back from a Florida vacation, stopped in Atchinson to check on John's birth record.

The founding home, in checking their records on the family, mentioned that they had received a note recently from John's sister

Gladys, who had been living in Pasadena. The Pasadena chief of police finally tracked Gladys down in Venice, Calif., where she had moved two years previously.

Both In San Francisco

It later evolved that Gladys and Agnes, for a period of about 11 years, had both worked in San Francisco—not knowing each was looking for the other.

But now that the family was virtually intact again, the job was not completed.

John, long-time employee of the State Department of Roads and Irrigation, explained it this way:

"It's been a long time since we've all been together. I guess we'll have to start up where we left off."

Hoesch Hardware Store Burglarized

Police said $309.76 was taken from a sale at the Hoesch Hardware Store at 909 O. Burglars apparently entered the rear of the store from a stairway platform after scaling a brick wall and catching hold of a rain trough to ascend the roof.

The intruders jerked the hooks loose on the sky-light cover and, using a ladder from the roof, knocked a hole in the partition to enter the third floor. They took an elevator to the main floor.

The burglars were reported to have left by the rear door.

Services Tuesday For Olive Murphy

Graveside services for Mrs. Olive Murphy, widow of the Rev. C. G. Murphy, will be held 10:30 a.m. Tuesday at Wyuka.

The Rev. Seldon C. Dickinson will officiate.

Mrs. Murphy died in San Diego, Calif.

Survivors include her daughter, Mrs. Harold Lauritsen of San Diego.

REV. FALKENROTH IS HONORED FOR 50 YEARS CHURCH SERVICE

Nearly 300 persons attended anniversary services at the Bethlehem Lutheran Church at Pleasant Dale Sunday evening to commemorate the 50 years' service in the ministry of their pastor, the Rev. F. W. Falkenroth.

The occasion also marked the veteran minister's retirement.

Guest speakers for the services were two long-time friends of the retiring Lutheran pastor, the Rev. F. W. Bargert of Staplehurst, and the Rev. William Peterson of Garland.

A reception was held in the church parlors following the services, and the Rev. Mr. Falkenroth was presented with a cash donation from members of the congregation.

Commenting upon his retirement, the Rev. Mr. Falkenroth said he was "grateful he had been permitted to serve the Lord in His Church for these 50 years."

He said 50-year service was somewhat rare, with only one out of six ministers reported able to serve for that length of time.

Stating that ministers feel quite a load of responsibility for the spiritual well-being of their congregations, the Rev. Mr. Falkenroth said his retirement signaled "the relief of that heavy responsibility."

All seven children of the Rev. and Mrs. Falkenroth were at Pleasant Dale to attend the ceremonies. They came from Seattle; Lafayette, Ind.; Indianapolis, Omaha and Beatrice.

The Rev. and Mrs. Falkenroth plan to reside in Indianapolis upon their retirement.

Woman Stabbed; Husband Booked

A 23-year-old woman was reported in good condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital, after being stabbed once in the chest with a knife in her home.

Police booked her 30-year-old husband in connection with the stabbing. The man was apprehended by police in an alley near 19th and T shortly after the stabbing was reported to police. Police said the stabbing resulted from a domestic quarrel.

Congratulations In Order

Nothing can beat a hearty, warmhearted message of congratulations, we imagine, especially if the congratulations are inspired by nothing more than good intentions.

Take the case of Regent J. Leroy Welsh of Omaha.

Regent Welsh just finished a tour of duty as chairman of a five-man bipartisan commission appointed by Ike to study and make recommendations for the increased use of agricultural products. The commission is convinced that new industrial uses for farm commodities are entirely feasible. As we understand it it does not undertake to tell the public exactly what those new industrial uses are but to show its own good faith it believes that a substantial sum of money should be set aside for study and research under a systematic, well-organized program.

Time To End It

Clay L. Cochran, research director and legislative representative of the Rural Electric Cooperative Association criticized the federal practice of granting fast tax write-offs to private utilities and charged that the device had given the latter millions of dollars to play around with.

It must be granted that Cochran is a partisan. He is representing an embattled element of public power. But he is repeating a known fact when he speaks of the practice of fast tax write-offs. Perhaps there was some provocation for a special concession to private enterprise during the war period when expansion was needed whose longevity was speculative and when industry and the utilities were called upon to produce far more than normal financial and productive capacity could justify—this, as a matter of national survival. But the concession has worn thin.

Private enterprise itself should move to end the practice. While there is a lure of special benefits the use of fast tax write-offs is eroding away public sympathy. The instance of the Idaho Power Company stands in good point.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

A reader in Omaha wrote the editor in answer to a question which we had asked in this column. The question had suggested that thought be given by the people of Nebraska to adequate financial support for the medical center now taking shape slowly in Omaha as a part of the University of Nebraska's expansion program.

By way of answer our correspondent presented what he considered impressive proof that only gratifying pride on the part of Nebraskans should accompany what has been accomplished in expansion of the medical center in Omaha thus far. It has not been at the expense of Nebraskans through tax dollars, the reader said. The land on which Clarkson Hospital was built, he points out, was purchased by private funds for $175,000. The building on it was constructed and furnished at a cost of $5,500,000, for which there was no tax levy on Nebraska taxpayers. Land for the Children's Memorial Hospital was leased from the University of Nebraska, he writes, and the facility was built and furnished without tax levy at a cost of $1,450,000. The land for the C. Louis Meyer Memorial Center, the Hattie B. Munroe Home, and the Dr. Lord School for Handicapped Children (yet to be built) was furnished by Nebraska tax dollars at a cost of $480,000. The Meyer Memorial and Munroe Home yet to be constructed will be completed, he says, without tax levy at a cost of $1,750,000 with funds supplied by Washington. Land and a building known as the Doctor's Building is a private venture, we are told, and represents an investment of $3,000,000. The proposed expansion of the Children's Memorial Hospital at a cost of an approximate million dollars is not within the tax budget. The medical center represents an investment of still another million either under way or on the drawing boards, housing activities important and vital to any great medical center.

Not Solely Matter Of Buildings

So there you have it—an approximate $14,000,000 investment in physical plant—largely through private benefactors. It is a rather convincing showing, intended to persuade the people of Nebraska they are getting a magnificent, badly-needed medical center of the finest standards at virtually no cost to themselves in tax dollars. We have no desire to quibble or quarrel with this ardent advocate of a medical center. Yet the fact remains that it is not solely the question of the investment in buildings, impressive as that is, to be considered. Whenever a medical center takes shape there are years and years ahead involving the increasing costs of maintenance—upkeep if that is the word for it. And it is not the initial investment but the continuing, mounting cost of maintenance and operation which needs to be given consideration.

This is not said by way of criticism of what has been done in the way of the establishment of a medical center—nor criticism of what remains to be done—but a third of the members of the 1957 Legislature had a question in their minds as to whether the medical center was within the means of the people of the state. And the governor—Governor Anderson—took the position in his recommendations to the Legislature that the building levy for the medical center be abandoned for the next two years in the light of the state's economic problems. Governor Anderson's position rested on the fact, we understand, that the building levy in its first two years of operation was not utilized for buildings essential to accreditation. Right or wrong we were told the governor looked upon construction of an $850,000 nurses home as a facility which could have been postponed.

Now any suggestion Nebraskans should ignore the continuing, mounting cost of equipment and supplies through the years and the expense of maintaining a staff will not simply ask us to close our eyes. In time that medical center will cost a lot of money, and may call for dollars which other colleges in the University need to keep in mind. It is not critical in any sense to suggest that we ought to know where we are going.

There is no harm in that. No one knows what might come of it—anything—and up to now nothing has come of it. We have nothing to lose. We started out with nothing; we ended up with nothing. Why not congratulate now and await the glad day when, thanks to Mr. Welsh, surpluses have disappeared.

If bologna greases the path to new industrial uses of farm products then Mr. Welsh and his associates are already in. In his weekly newsletter Nebraska First District Congressman Phil Weaver extends to Mr. Welsh congratulations for "his capable leadership," as chairman of the commission appointed by Ike to make recommendations.

It is one thing to be congratulated before—something else again after Mr. Welsh stands a chance of scoring 100 per cent.

While at the outset it was a debatable question whether the nation would be best served by small dams on the Snake River when the virtues of a publicly financed high multipurpose dam at Hells Canyon were so provocative, public opinion still was willing to play along with the idea of private enterprise and the green light was given to the Idaho Power Company. That feeling has greatly cooled since it was learned Idaho Power did not intend to engage in the project in the pure spirit of private enterprise, but contemplated public assistance in the form of fast tax write-offs. The public still clings to the idea that private enterprise is something that puts up its own money, takes all of the risks and survives by being competitively the best. When it is attempted to be sold as a project for private gain on the basis of public support it becomes something else.

Not Our Kind

Sam Dawson, Associated Press commentator on the state of business, admits that trade is currently in the doldrums but he assures America that the national economy will emerge from the vacation time lull as strong as ever. Perhaps business will reach even a new peak by year end.

He sums it up by saying that good times seem likely to hang around for the rest of the year. No one would be ungrateful enough to court a depression and all must admit that full employment is a cheerful state. But for the rank and file this constant drum beating about prosperity falls a little short of total satisfaction. Mr. Dawson's remarks would be better taken if there were some encouraging references to falling prices.

There is this about the current agricultural economy. Its struggles with surpluses and declining prices could come to some sort of satisfactory solution if prices for that which agriculture buys would decline in some proportion to falling production and falling farm income. But high commodity prices, ever on the increase, make the problem steadily more acute. Regardless of the busy-ness of the nation the farming sections fail to find that a source of special joy.

Concurrently with the Dawson survey another source announced that the consumer price index by the end of May had risen to 119.6 per cent of the 1947-48 dollar, or to put it another way today's dollar will buy 80 cents worth of the 1947-48 dollar. This places the homemaker in a position analogous to that of the farmer.

It is an odd sort of prosperity where everyone does constantly better and comes out progressively worse.

Election Day

Wednesday in this country will be just the day before the Fourth, a time for last minute planning of a holiday. But in Egypt it will be different. It will be that nation's first election day since 1952. Dictator Nasser is staging the election to give his regime the facade of democracy and popularity.

It will not take any expert prophets to figure out who will win. That has already been taken care of. Of 1,210 who declared an intention of standing for office half were rejected at the outset as unsuitable. A committee headed by Nasser himself went over the list. If any dissidents get into the Egyptian parliament it will only be a reflection on the committee's diligence. But we presume if there are any doubtful ones they will be carefully counted out before the results are announced.

Hold That Cliche!

Officials of the national archives have set forth on what they term a new project. They are going to rid government letter writing of its clichés—such as "Yours of the 12 inst received." They believe if their crusade succeeds they will save the taxpayers an incalculable amount of paper, postage and of course money, assuming if the letters state only what the writer intends to say it will take greatly fewer stenographers.

That sounds almost too good and as a first suggestion the officials should eliminate their own word "project" which in itself has become a first class cliché. As a second suggestion they could be advised that a better objective than the one they have adopted would be to encourage government letters that are readable, with or without clichés.

Not Many Talk Up To Humphrey

WASHINGTON — Prior to the current Senate investigation of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and his fiscal policies, only two members of Congress had the courage to tangle with the man rated as the most powerful in the cabinet.

One was Congressman Albert Thomas of Houston, Tex., who called on the secretary of the Treasury to ask why the Office of Defense Mobilization would not grant a fast tax write-off to the Baytown Steel Co., of Baytown, Tex.

Humphrey explained that he was against fast tax write-offs.

"They add to inflation, and give favored companies an unfair advantage over competitors," he said.

"But they weren't so bad when you got a $315,000,000 tax write-off for your National Steel Co. company?" Congressman Thomas shot back. "Or when you got $111,000,000 for your Canadian Ore Company?"

"If these tax write-offs are so bad why don't you repeal them?" asked the congressman from Texas.

That ended the interview. Note—Humphrey is a member of the Defense Mobilization Board, the over-all agency which grants the fast tax write-offs.

CHANGE ON SEAWAY

The other congressman who tangled with George Humphrey is George Fallon of Baltimore, like Thomas, a Democrat. Their clash occurred before Humphrey became secretary of the Treasury when he testified, March 5, 1951, in favor of the St. Lawrence Seaway. Prior to this, Humphrey had referred to the seaway as a "socialistic ditch." But after his M.A. Hanna Co. acquired one of the most valuable ore deposits in the world in Labrador, Humphrey changed his mind.

Congressman Fallon discreetly called Humphrey's attention not to his own views but to those of another Hanna executive, and asked: "Do you think his views have changed today?"

"Oh yes, they have changed," replied the head of one of the greatest ore companies in the world. "For many years we were opposed to the seaway for just one reason: We did not see there was a substantial tonnage to move over it."

"In our work in Labrador we have been looking forward to the time when more iron ore would be developed.... and as soon as we found there was a large tonnage of ore in Labrador that could be moved over the seaway we then changed our position in favor of the seaway."

Later when Mr. Humphrey entered the cabinet he threw his weight behind passage of the seaway with such vigor that his close friend, Sen. George Bender of Ohio, complained he was changing the signals too rapidly. Bender, who had opposed the seaway, had to reverse himself and promote the seaway. Thanks to Humphrey's power the seaway, after 20 years of delay—was passed, though only through Lake Erie, near which the Humphrey industrial properties are located.

The last annual report of the M. A. Hanna Co. in which Secretary Humphrey retained a huge block of stock, speaks glowingly of the seaway development.

Even 'Clean' Bomb Does Dirty Work

NEW YORK — The huzzahs over the development of a 95 per cent "clean" atomic or hydrogen bomb reminds me of the endless debates at the Washington Naval Conference of many years ago about whether thereafter to kill people with 16 inch or 14 inch guns.

As one who has covered an H-bomb and maybe a dozen A-bombs it occurs to me that it is not going to make much difference to the victim whether he is incinerated by a "clean" new bomb or a "dirty" old one. There is a limit to fastidiousness in this field.

Of course, it's an interesting and significant development, the almost "clean" bomb. The scientists responsible for it have assured the President that if nuclear tests can be continued for another four or five years the absolute "clean" bomb will be bred.

The difference between a "clean" and a "dirty" bomb is, of course, the scope of the radioactive aftermath of the bomb. The utterly "clean" bomb would be simply (if that's the word) an extremely high explosive, capable also of cremating all things within a certain radius. As such it could be used to erase specified targets without the embarrassment of a radioactive dust storm dripping on friendly or potentially friendly populations downwind from the blast.

The "dirty" bomb, which we, the Russians and the British now have in ever-increasing numbers, gives off a poisoned mushroom whose size and radiated intensity depends on how much matter it is able to suck up into the cloud. This is regulated by the height at which the bomb is detonated. A bomb touched off at 50,000 feet, for example, would have to depend wholly on its atomized parts for its cloud and therefore would be of little consequence as a spreader of radioactive debris.

But one that goes off close to the ground contaminates as it pulverizes, then lifts the microscopic but lethal dust and the great winds carry it around the earth for years. Radiated dust from bomb tests as far back as the Bikini experiments of 1946 and Russia's first A-test in 1949 is dropping on you as I write and you read these words.

So now it would appear that we'll have no more of these "dirty" jobs. One worries, however, over such rudderless assertions as that made by David Lawrence in his Washington column last week. Mr. Lawrence, a consistently responsible hand, wrote, "It helps to assure the safety of the United States from destruction by a powerful enemy."

This is a bold assumption that Russia, too, will not only develop a "clean" bomb but scrupulously use it in the event of an attack on this country.

In the first place, if we don't keep our uranium dry Russia could destroy this country even by "clean" bombs. The ability of the United States or any other nation to fight back in a major war could be demolished by as few as a dozen H-bombs strategically placed in key ports, manufacturing centers and the seat of government. A lot of dirty business could be attended to by clean bombs.

Don't Appreciate It, Enjoy It, Lowbrow

This is something I generally sneak around corners into the friendly confines of shielding alleys to tell people: I don't appreciate music.

There it is, right out loud and brazen. I don't appreciate music. And I'm through cringing and blushing and stammering about it. Life is too short to go on for the last half of it feeling like a whipped egg every time some buffoon puffs a bassoon and you mistake it for a tuba. S I'm reforming.

The next time my host turns on his hi-fi set and murmurs, "I want you to hear the reeds come through," I'm going to up and tell the guy that I don't know a reed from a clump of crabgrass, and if it's all the same with him I'll just sit back and enjoy the pretty noises.

I'm a sucker for pretty noises, whether they come out of a musical saw or a symphonic orchestra. About the only kind I don't enjoy is the kind where, if you don't see the girl singer making faces and motions, you think maybe she has just swallowed a bug and is choking on it. If you do see her, you think maybe she got the bug down her back.

The average run-of-the-mill kind of music, from hillbilly to Hifeyts, can hold me entranced for hours. This alone is a good indication that I do not appreciate music, because "Lonesome Polecat" is not supposed to hang around the same eardrums with "Minuet in G Minor".

People who do appreciate music, who can pick out the elements that compound it, and understand the craftsmanship that goes into it, are among the world's most fortunate. To my way of thinking, they must be like the silversmith looking on the work of a master jeweler, able not only to see the natural beauty of his creation, but to thrill also to the exquisite skill that put it together. I can do that with a piece of writing some Faulkner or Whitman has turned out, but not with music.

Not that I haven't tried, either. I have watched, and listened, and every time I get to listening for the strings to come in, or the brass to sound off, all at once I'm concentrating so much that all I hear are squeaks here and squawks there, all broken down into little pieces and scrambled into an omelet of uproar, and somewhere in the confusion I've lost the music.

It seems like someone is always rattling pans in the kitchen just as I am on the verge of getting somewhere with my appreciation. Only it usually turns out that it was the cymbals coming in when I wasn't prepared for them.

BILL DOBLER At City Hall

Cats And Calls And Sealing Wax...

The poor cat may have nine lives but he lacks a good lobby or public relations man.

Not only has he had to be satisfied with taking a second place behind the dog as man's best friend, but he is about to have a price put on his ownership to further humiliate him. While his arch enemy the dog requires a $3 to $5 license fee, it is proposed the cat be tagged for from $1.50 to $2.50.

Well, it's the squeaky wheel that gets the grease. Perhaps since the dog makes so much more noise, he manages to be favored over the cat.

The cat licensing ordinance, of course, has not yet been given final approval by the City Council and there are doubtless many people who have strong feelings on the subject, many of whom will probably appear before the Council to oppose the new law. And while they seem to get less publicity, cats can probably boast of about as many achievements as dogs.

If you have ever known a devoted cat owner, you know the animal is considered by many to be possessed of some outstanding characteristics. They are often cited for their intelligence and known by their owners for even more devotion than the dog. A true cat owner would not trade the animal as a companion for any dog on earth.

While the new ordinance will actually be little hardship on the average cat owner and probably draw little criticism from them, it will hit others a little harder. While one dog is considered plenty for most of those who have them, a half dozen or so cats under one roof is not unusual.

Humane Society Supt. Harold Deacon reports he knows of one case where there are 25 cats in a single household. Tabby must have something on the ball when he can move in like that. The ordinance for licensing will pose a problem to such big cat owners—pay the fee for every cat or turn them out of the house.

Every now and then, city officials are faced with a new kind of problem. A woman called the mayor's office during the week, seeking permission to close a dead-end street for a day to use the area for a large family picnic.

There are a lot of odd calls at the City Hall and frequently call of misunderstanding as to matters of public concern. Such things as streets, parks, etc. are for the general public and policies permitting their use for private purposes can only lead to difficulties.

The City Council, however, could be placed in a rather hard position by private property owners who want such special privileges. A semi-private use of the streets, at least, has been approved by the City Council on a number of occasions. These have generally been for the promotion of retail schemes among the businessmen but at what point can such uses be stopped?

Street lighting was the subject of another recent call to the mayor's office. A lady wanted to know the status of her request for a light at an intersection near her home.

She was informed that her request had been investigated and funds proposed in the 1957-58 fiscal year budget to take care of the light. Making the budget proposal, however, and getting the appropriation are two different matters.

Street lights are only a few of the city services that will be directly affected by the budget soon to be prepared by the Council. How many picnic tables are found in the parks and how much equipment the parks contain will be determined in the budget. Likewise, such things as paving repair, street cleaning, fire equipment and many others having to do with direct public service will be settled with the budget.

There will also be items not considered as direct service such as physical plant maintenance, salaries, supplies, etc. The public will little know about these items but they will notice the service items. What should be remembered is that if they want the services, they will have to pay the taxes for them. Street lights are not free, nor are street sweepers, picnic tables and the rest. If they don't feel there are enough of these things, they can be consoled by the fact that they are just paying that much less in taxes.

While no great financial loss to anyone, a principle, for whatever it is worth, was lost when the City Council approved air-conditioning of the Council chambers. This reporter will enjoy as much as anyone the new and cooler atmosphere at Monday Council meetings.

We cannot help but agree, however, and applaud Mayor Bennett Martin for casting the only vote against air-conditioning. It did not seem right, Martin said in explaining his vote, to approve such a non-essential item in the face of a directive to city departmental heads for a conservative, economy-minded budget proposal.

That made sense and his stand will make sense with the department heads. He was not necessarily concerned with the $600 needed for the job and probably felt, like the other Council members, that air-conditioning was worth that and more. Nevertheless, he had a principle to uphold and he stood his ground.

Licensing Cats

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: I see by the morning paper that cats may have to have a license, the same as dogs. This will hit the spot with me. Maybe cats don't tear up gardens as dogs do, but they can meow under your window.

Warning Ignored

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In the President's message he told the Congress and the people that if inflation kept up its present pace it would ruin our economy, and he warned business and labor to resist from raising prices, and labor from asking increased pay. They haven't heeded his warning so inflation will keep up its regular pace. Now he warns again and neither will pay any attention to his future warning, and inflation will keep up its regular pace. They both want advance and gain.

Out Of Step

Omaha, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: My attention has just been called to your editorial entitled "Of Men and Things" as it appeared in the June 21 issue of the Lincoln Star.

I greatly appreciate the support you gave the Legislative Budget committee. We did try to perform a service to the state; a service which we thought was necessary. The fact that we were so strongly outvoted brings a question to my mind—perhaps I am badly out of step with the times and the old ideas of thrift and the curtailment of extravagancy are out-moded and no longer necessary or worthy of consideration.

Your editorial was thoughtful and timely; it clearly reviewed important present weaknesses in the state government and made a prediction that every thinking Nebraskan would do well to heed.

On the very rare occasions when I venture out to dine My wants are few and simple—maybe seven or eight or nine. I like to have the waiter or the waitress smile at me And not rush by my table as though there we shouldn't be.

When my guests and I are seated I like someone to inquire—Before waiting thirty minutes—if there's something we desire.

I'm a patient sort of fellow, but when they get so sweeping by I wonder why they never seem on me to cast an eye.

I know the waiter business is at times a wearying task; But, "Can I get you something?" "Doesn't take much time to ask. But after we've been seated and we've read the bill of fare, We'd like to have our dinner. That's the reason we are there.

On Sound Footing

Ashtand, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It is an undisputed fact the world over that every one likes to look at pretty girls. But very few of us know what makes girls pretty. I have studied it over and I have discovered that it is the grand old maids we have among us that make girls pretty. Wherever there are old maids you will find lots of pretty girls. Three or four old maids scattered around a neighborhood will make more pretty girls than all the face powder, hair oil and lipstick in a dozen drug stores.

This is the way it works. Old maids love cats. Where there are old maids you will find a lot of cats. Cats eat mice. Where there are a lot of cats there are no mice. Mice eat bees and where there are no mice there will be a lot of bees. Bees like flowers, and where there are a lot of flowers you will find a lot of clover and alfalfa fields; and, where there are a lot of clover and alfalfa fields you will find a lot of dairy cows, and where there are a lot of dairy cows

NU Students Get 67% Of Credit Hours In State

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

Of the total credit hours earned in higher education institutions in Nebraska, 67 per cent were gained at the University of Nebraska.

This is the result of a recently completed study of the University and the state's four teachers colleges.

Related costs of the teachers colleges and the University indicate that the University was credited with 250,150 credit hours of a total of 370,741 in the study period.

This took in a year's period from July to July, 1955-56, for the Normal Schools and 1956-57, including the summer school for the University.

Kearney 12 Per Cent

Of the total credit hours earned at all schools, Kearney accounted for 12 per cent, Wayne 9 per cent, Chadron, 5 and Peru, 4.

A credit hour is a unit system indicating hours of classroom work a week for a semester period.

On a cost basis for each credit hour earned, the University of Nebraska averaged from $30 to $35; Kearney, $11; Wayne, $13.5; Chadron, $18.5, and Peru, $22.5.

Broken down, this indicates that the University with a budget of $17.8 million for the 1955-57 biennium, accounted for only double the credit hours of the Normal Schools. Their budget for the same period was around $3.5 million.

Much Research Not Counted

These figures point up markedly the extent of service by the University, such as agricultural research and extension work, not accounted for in credit hour tabulations.

Comparative figures on credit hours as compared to expenditure of funds for Normal Schools, shows Kearney registering the low among teachers colleges. This involves funds appropriated from the Institutional Building Fund.

Kearney received $1,191,443 from the building fund; Wayne, $1,532,702; Chadron, $805,345, and Peru, $694,575, between 1947 up to May 1, 1957.

Comparing the building fund allocations to credit hours, Kearney with the greatest amount of hours registered received only $25 a credit hour of the funds.

The other three of the Normal Schools were Wayne, $43; Chadron, $40, and Peru, $40.

Bank Clearings Up $10 Million First Half '57

Lincoln bank clearings were up $10 million for the first half of 1957 over the same period in 1956. Clearings through June 30, 1957 totaled $260,777,898.07 compared to $250,787,671.51 for the first six months of 1956.

June, 1957, bank clearing totals dropped slightly below the 1956 total of $42,115,768.35 for June. June clearings this year totaled $41,255,836.79. The figures for May, 1957 were $47,339,932.33.

Ship Quarantined For Influenza

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP) — The British passenger liner Stratheden arrived at Port Said and was quarantined outside the port because of some influenza cases among the ship's crew. None of the ship's 826 passengers was allowed ashore.

Egyptian authorities explained the quarantine was due to Egypt's new strict anti-flu health rules, especially after the appearance of some flu cases in the Middle East. The ship's captain said he had isolated the flu cases aboard as a precaution.

Storms Lash Greece Leaving One Dead

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Floods, hail and rain storms lashed northern Greece this weekend, claiming at least one dead and ten injured and causing incalculable damage to agriculture and livestock.

Press reports said the river Struma in central Macedonia overflowed and flooded thousands of tobacco fields, vineyards, vegetable and fruit gardens. Crop destruction there was estimated from 50 to 100 per cent. About 15,000 sheep and goats were reported drowned or killed by egg-size hail.

LONDON (AP) — A spokesman at the British health ministry said no confirmed flu cases have been reported in Britain since the outbreak of the epidemic in the Far East but British health laws do not require official notification of individual cases. Very small number of suspected flu cases has been reported among seamen at British ports, the spokesman added.

Audience Held

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Pius XII received about 20,000 pilgrims in general audience in St. Peter's basilica. The audience was featured by an unusually heavy attendance of American sailors from the 6th fleet base at Naples.

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes... Relief Lasts for Hours!

New York, N. Y. (Special) — The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription.

Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms.

This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription — so safe that now it can be sold — without prescription — in tiny tablets called Primatene®.

Primatene opens bronchial tubes, loosens mucous congestion, relieves taut nervous tension. All this without taking painful injections.

The secret is — Primatene combines 3 medicines (in full prescription strength) found most effective in combination for asthma distress. Each performs a special purpose. So look forward to sleep at night and freedom from asthma spasms... get Primatene, at any drugstore. Only 98¢ — money-back guarantee. ©1956, Whitehall Pharmaceutical Company

New Commodity Loan Program Planned

OGALLALA, Neb. (AP)—Exploration of a new commodity loan program was completed here at the end of a two-day meeting of state Agricultural Conservation and Stabilization Committee officials with ASC representatives from ten western Nebraska counties.

The loan plan now in experiment in the Kansas City area of the ASC is intended to simplify record-keeping on commodity credit loans for bankers as well as ASC personnel in offices. If the experiment in the five-state Kansas City district proves practical, state ASC men said, it will be put into operation nationally.

Under the new plan all commodity credit notes will be kept in county ASC offices. The ASC will issue certificates of interest to banks or lending agencies. These certificates are negotiable and are cash items in banking records.

The new plan was worked out by members of state ASC committees in consultation with representatives of the American Bankers Association.

To Supplement Old Plan

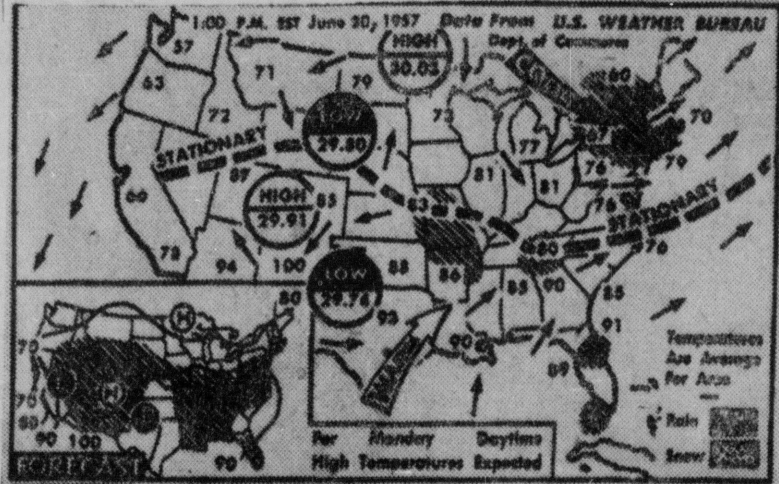

The new procedure will supplant a one under which the banks figured the interest, which was rechecked in county ASC offices, and banks had the responsibility of carrying the notes.

The area in which the experiment is being conducted includes Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming and Missouri. The new plan goes into effect with harvest of the 1957 crop.

The meeting at Ogallala is one of several district meetings to be held in the state, with two teams of ASC personnel conducting the explanations.

Jim Newton, Lincoln, supervisor of commodity loans and purchase agreements, his assistant, Harold Rademaker, and state ASC chairman, Wilfred Nelson of Potter, conducted sessions at Ogallala.

The group met with district bankers at a dinner.

IT'S SCATTERED SHOWERS AGAIN

Scattered showers or thunderstorms were predicted for Monday in the Rockies, central Plains, most of the area from Missouri southward to the Gulf and Eastward to the Atlantic coast, and in Florida. The remainder of the nation was to have generally fair weather. It was to be warmer in Pennsylvania and southern New Jersey, with little temperature change elsewhere. (AP Wirephoto).

Janing Is Named To Continue Probe Of Omaha Police

OMAHA (AP)—Detective Captain Theodore J. Janing is scheduled to become special investigator to continue a probe of Omaha police activities.

Public Safety Director Lynn R. Carey and Police Chief C. Harold Ostler made the announcement. They gave their support to recommendations made by Homer C. Wilste of Falls City, who had made an investigation and submitted a report.

Janing will be assigned to the job early this week.

Chief Ostler said the department will be "cleaned up and will be kept clean." He added: "We're not going to drop any thing."

Ostler said, "We solicit public information and help. We plan to do a thorough and not a hit-and-miss investigation."

Carey said, "We will certainly investigate every lead from any source."

Carey and Ostler agreed that better screening of recruits is necessary.

Mouflan, Aoudad, Paca In Scottsbluff Riverside Zoo

Lincoln Star Special

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. — Scottsbluff's Riverside Park zoo, already famed for its collections of animals on exhibit, has added an alligator, two kinkajou, a pair of mouflon, an aoudad, two paca, an agouti and a capy, Zoo Director Jim Vernon reports.

The additions have brought a foreign atmosphere to the city's noted tree-shrouded zoo which annually attracts many thousands of visitors.

The alligator is not foreign to the United States. The other animals are, although the mouflon, which are wild sheep whose native habitat is Corsica and Sardinia, came from Dawson County Sheriff Paul Whaley at Lexington.

Although the alligator is foreign to this area, he came from the Rapid City Reptile Gardens in an involved trade. He is five feet long and Vernon expects him to outgrow his present quarters.

'Alcoholics'

The kinkajou are natives of Central America and are known as the alcoholics of the animal kingdom, according to Vernon. They love to eat honey and in their natural habitat use their long tongues to get it from honey combs.

Vernon is carrying marked evidence of their dislikes. The female of the pair bit his thumb so that

SCOTTSBLUFF PLANS PARTIAL INTEGRATION

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP)—Partial integration of Scottsbluff's police and fire departments will begin when four firemen return from vacations.

The four have been picked by City Manager Carsten Leikvold as the first to be integrated into the police department. They will combine police and fire fighting duties, carrying fire fighting and first aid equipment in their cars and answering alarms.

Eventually the fire department will be cut to less than ten men and most of the firemen released added to the police department.

There are 17 paid firemen at present.

Lower cost and increased efficiency of both departments are expected to result, city councilmen who approved the change said.

ALLIGATOR

he has been shaking hands with his left hand.

The kinkajou were involved in the trade that brought the alligator to Riverside Park zoo.

Sheriff Whaley traded the pair of mouflon for two antelope which have just been born in the Scottsbluff zoo. They will be delivered to him when they are weaned.

80 Acres Set Aside

The Dawson County sheriff is attempting to breed mouflon and other animals and has set aside 80 acres of land for their use.

The Scottsbluff zoo, Vernon reports, is one of the two or three in the United States able to reproduce antelope in captivity. Many inquiries have been received about the success of the Scottsbluff zoo's reproduction the superintendent reports.

The aoudad is the only indigenous wild sheep of Africa. He came to Scottsbluff in a trade with the zoo at Dallas.

A craggy, small hill has been constructed for the mouflon and aoudad over which they scamper and climb.

Paca Like Raccoon

The paca is a rodent native of South America. They were secured in a trade with Jim Campbell's Fairland zoo at Custer, S.D. Vernon says they can best be compared to the raccoon of our country.

The agouti is a rodent of South America also. The capy is the South American beaver.

Vernon reports that 99 per cent of the new additions to the zoo are the results of trades. Citizens of the area make contributions of rabbits, chickens and native animals. They all take great pride in the Riverside Park zoo.

Arnold Gesterfield is superintendent of parks for Scottsbluff. Vernon is superintendent of the zoo.

OVER 1,200 AT FALLS CITY BANK'S DIAMOND JUBILEE

Lincoln Star Special

FALLS CITY, Neb.—More than 1,200 people jammed the First National Bank of Falls City Sunday afternoon to help the officers and staff celebrate the bank's 75th anniversary.

Gus Scholz, executive vice president of the bank, said it was "more than we expected" but that officials were "delighted at the turnout."

The customers received demonstrations of a proofing machine, which sorts the bank's items into 10 categories and will produce any teller's cash balance at any hour by merely punching a button.

A micro-filing machine for copying checks, which can handle 400 items a minute, was also on display.

Mrs. Tom Dooley Satisfactory After Two-Car Crash

OMAHA (AP)—Mrs. Tom Dooley, 72, of Papillion was reported in satisfactory condition at a hospital Sunday with injuries suffered in a two-car crash Friday.

The attending physician said Mrs. Dooley suffered fractures of the arm and leg.

Her husband, Sen. Tom Dooley, received face and knee bruises when the car he was driving and one driven by Marvin C. Nielsen, 34, Omaha, collided. Nielsen was cut and bruised.

A-War Possibility Smaller—Taylor

... General Speaks At Gettysburg

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the Army's chief of staff, Sunday night told an audience which included President Eisenhower that the possibility of a general atomic war has diminished.

But Taylor added that local, limited aggression by Communist forces presents "an increasingly serious threat to world peace."

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower motored from their nearby farm home to hear Taylor address a capacity crowd of about 1,500 in the Gettysburg High School auditorium. He spoke at a memorial ceremony marking the 94th anniversary of the Civil War battle of Gettysburg.

Eisenhower and Taylor shook hands warmly as the President arrived at the auditorium.

"Max, this is a great privilege," the President said in greeting Taylor, smart in a white summer uniform.

"I have come to Gettysburg to see you," Eisenhower added with a chuckle. "Why don't you ever come to see me?"

Home Work

Alluding to the speech he was about to make, Taylor grinned and remarked to his commander in chief:

"I'd have done my homework better if I had known you were coming."

The early evening sun still was bright and hot as the President escorted Mrs. Eisenhower into the jammed auditorium. They were accompanied by their weekend house guests, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Leonard D. Heaton. The general, commandant at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington, operated on the President for ileitis a year ago this month.

The master of ceremonies at Sunday night's memorial, Burgess (mayor) William G. Weaver of Gettysburg, touched off a rousing ovation for Eisenhower and his wife in alluding to the fact that Monday is their 41st wedding anniversary.

"I think it fitting to give the bride and groom of 41 years a big hand at this time," Weaver said. The audience did just that and the President and the first lady, smiling broadly, stood at their front row seats to acknowledge the applause.

Taps Out Time

The program also included selections by the United States Army Band and the President tapped out time with his foot when a medley of marches was played.

Eisenhower and his party stayed for the first half of the concert after Taylor's speech. On departing the President walked to the stage and shook hands with the leader of the band, Maj. Hugh Curry.

Mrs. Martin To Take Control Board Chair

... Second Woman In 4 Years

For the second time in four years, a woman takes over as chairman of the Board of Control with the advent of appointment changes in Statehouse offices.

Mrs. Catherine Martin, member of the Board of Control since she took office from Mrs. Mary Prince of Grand Island, assumes her post Monday. At the same time, Harold Peterson, administrative assistant to the Board, becomes a member of the three-man board.

Peterson replaces Thomas Dredla, Crete attorney, who filled out his six-year term Sunday. Dredla was chairman of the Board during his last two years of office.

No Assistant Yet

At present, there has been no selection for the office of administrative assistant, although the future board is expected to continue the office. Several persons have announced a desire to hold down the post.

Another new chairmanship will occur, this in the Liquor Commission, Nathan B. Pont, member for four years, will take over the helm left by the resignation of Tal Conrad. Conrad takes over in a new job as director of Employment Security with the State Labor Dept.

A former mayor of Nebraska City, Victor Bremer, replaces Conrad on the Liquor Commission. The Commission additionally has another new member, Ray Osborn, former Lincoln city councilman, who has served since May.

NEW SAFE IODINE TREATMENT
STOPS ATHLETE'S FOOT ITCH
—HEALS RAW, PEELING TOES

The way 9 out of 10 doctors recommend

New York, N. Y.—Now you can get fast relief of athlete's foot itch and burn—speed healing of sore, cracked, peeling toes—with an amazing new complete home treatment.

Science at last has found the way to make iodine, world's greatest germ-killer, so safe and gentle it is recommended for use on feet and toes. So powerfully antiseptic that in clinical tests it cleared up athlete's foot infections of long duration, even of some of the worst, most active cases! Yet so gentle it can't hurt even a baby's tender skin.

Best of all, this new treatment combines what 9 out of 10 doctors recommend. First, a powerful antiseptic that actually kills the dreaded fungus Trichophyton Interdigitale and other lesser fungi associated with athlete's foot. Almost instantly relieves itching, burning, smarting; helps raw, cracked toes heal fast. Second, a medicated powder containing the same safe, painless iodine discovery to help prevent re-infection, and keep feet dry and odor-free.

This complete treatment takes only seconds to apply. Forms a soothing film that retains full germ-killing power for hours. Greaseless, stainless—washes from skin and wool or cotton socks.

Stop suffering from itching, burning, smarting feet—or athlete's foot. Get swift relief this remarkable new way. Ask for ISODINE Athlete's Foot Treatment. Guaranteed results. Money back if not satisfied. Only $1.39 at all pharmacies.

Back Home To Reside

There was great rejoicing when the friends of Maj. and Mrs. Clinton Kimsey learned that they and their two small daughters were returning to Lincoln to reside.

Maj. Kimsey has just been transferred to the Lincoln Air Force Base which means that the Kimseys, barring all unforeseen events, probably will be stationed here for the next three years.

Mrs. Kimsey is the former Jean Moyer, daughter of Mrs. T. C. Moyer, and a member of Pi Beta Phi at the University of Nebraska.

In the picture with Mrs. Kimsey are Nan (right), Jody Kay—and the family pet, Wendy.

NEWS OF THE TOWN

Had Evening Wedding

MRS. GERALD WALLERSTEDT

Three hundred invitations were issued for the wedding of Miss Ruth Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Nelson of Oakland, and Gerald L. Wallerstedt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wallerstedt, also of Oakland, which was an event of Sunday evening, June 30, at the West Side Methodist Church in Oakland. The 7 o'clock service, solemnized by the Rev. William W. Nelson of Chicago, took place before a background of white gladioli and greenery, and the wedding music was played by Miss Patricia Eliason of Wahoo. Miss Eliason also accompanied Howard Andersen of Omaha, the vocal soloist.

The attendants, Miss Barbara Dorsey of Lincoln, the maid of honor; and the bridesmaids, Miss Doris Miller of Omaha, Miss Leila Erickson of Fairbury, and Mrs. Merlyn Nelson, were identically styled frocks of embroidered organza over tulle in shades of pink, aqua, yellow and lavender, and carried bouquets of white daisies. Miss JoAnn Saathoff of Sterling and Miss Judy Cook of Tekamah lighted the candles, and the flower girl was Debra Sue Nelson. Thomas Nelson was the ringbearer.

Norman Wallerstedt served his brother as best man, and seated the guests were John Kruse of Walthill; Donald Johanson, Melvin Linder, Merlyn Nelson, and Elroy Nelson.

Imported Italian lace and tulle over satin fashioned the gown chosen by the bride for her wedding. The long-sleeved bodice, designed with a portrait neckline cuffed with sequin encrusted lace, narrowed to a slender waist beneath which the voluminous skirt of tulle over satin was patterned with insets of hand-clipped Rose Point lace and was completed with a chapel train. A Juliet cap of sequins, trimmed with folds of pearl-dotted tulle, held in place her veil of illusion, and she carried a white Bible marked with white orchids and Stephanotis.

After a honeymoon trip to the Black Hills and Oregon, for which Mrs. Wallerstedt wore a coral-toned sheath frock, with white accessories, the couple will reside in Oakland.

The bride is a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University where she is a member of Delta Zeta sorority, and has been a member of the Lincoln public schools faculty. Mr. Wallerstedt attended Nebraska Wesleyan, and was graduated from the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Theta Chi fraternity.

Marriage Solemnized

Pink candles burning in hurricane lamps and pedestal arrangements of pink gladioli decorated the chancel of the Centenary Methodist Church at Beatrice Sunday afternoon, June 30, for the marriage of Miss Arlene Jane Hubka, daughter of Mrs. Albert Hubka of Lincoln, formerly of Odell, to Melvin James Klingsporn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ewald B. Klingsporn of Polk. The 2 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Walter Jewett.

As her twin sister's maid of honor, Miss Darlene Jean Hubka appeared in a full-skirted frock of white Chantilly lace smoothed over pink tulle and sashed in pink. Her satin mits and cap were in matching tone and she carried pink carnations. Costumed identically were the bridesmaids, Mrs. Harold Grabowski of Odell, sister of the bride; Mrs. Robert Sargent of Omaha, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Darlene Kay Prokop of Spencer; and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Diane Novotny of Steele City. The flower girls were Miss Vicki Sargent of Omaha and Miss Debra Shalla, Wymore, and Frankie Novotny, Steele City, was the ringbearer. Lighting the candles were Miss Ramona Bunting and Miss Irene Bunting of Steele City. Dale Drake of Omaha served as best man, and the ushers were Eugene Klingsporn of Polk; Robert Sargent, Omaha; Randy Streeton, Lincoln; August Bednar, Wymore; and James Hebl, Odell.

The bride's gown was fashioned of blush pink Chantilly lace and tulle. Petal scallops of the lace edged the shell neckline and the brief sleeves of the molded bodice of lace, and the lace motif was repeated in appliques on the very full skirt of tulle which ended in a whisper train. Her veil of pink illusion was held by a queen's crown of lace, and she carried a cascade arrangement of red roses and pink, feathered carnations.

Following a wedding trip to Canada and eastern states, Mr. and Mrs. Klingsporn will reside in Lincoln where the bridegroom is studying for a Masters Degree at the University of Nebraska.

The bride attended Fairbury Junior College and the University of Nebraska and was vocational home economics instructor at Coleridge last year. She will be a member of the West Point School faculty in the fall.

complimented at numerous informal family affairs during the past few weeks. On June 8 Mr. and Mrs. Leon Nefsky were host and hostess when they entertained members of the family at dinner at Hillcrest Country Club. Miss Rosenberg was again

An Afternoon Service

MRS. GEORGE L. STEPHENS

The wedding of Miss Carole Jeanette Tietjen, daughter of R.L. Tietjen of Riverton, and Mrs. Susan Gray of Burbank, Calif., and George Lewis Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Stephens, took place at a 3 o'clock ceremony on Sunday afternoon, June 30, at the Havelock Methodist Church. The Rev. L. Edward Mattingly read the lines of the service and Mrs. Jack Hibbs, who played the wedding music, also accompanied the vocal soloist, James Lawson.

Miss JoAnn Saathoff of Sterling was the maid of honor and only attendant, and the candles were lighted by Mrs. John Richards, and Miss Mary Johnson of Norfolk.

Richard Stephens of Atlantic, Ia., served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were Gary Hamilton of Fairfield; William Bowmaster, Gary Clifford and LeRoy Seng.

The bride appeared in a gown of tulle and lace over satin. The long-sleeved bodice, fashioned with a deep, portrait yoke of illusion, narrowed to an Elizabethan point at the waist. The extremely wide skirt of tulle was front-paneled with the lace and was completed with a cathedral train. A tiara of sequins held in place her fingertip veil of illusion, and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses on a white prayerbook.

Mr. Stephens and his bride, following a reception at the church, left for a honeymoon trip to Colorado and upon their return they will reside at 3001 Strauss Ct., Lincoln. Mrs. Stephens traveled in a white suit, with white accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University where she is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. She now is a member of the Nebraska Wesleyan staff. Mr. Stephens also was graduated from Nebraska Wesleyan, where he is a member of Crescent fraternity, and now is a member of the faculty at the University of Nebraska where he took his graduate work.

We Hear That

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Anton of Phoenix, Ariz., have announced the birth of a daughter, Joyce Elaine, on Sunday, June 17. The baby's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Boyles of Lincoln, and her paternal grandmother is Mrs. Gus Anton of Martell, formerly of Lincoln.

Honor Guests From Arizona

Honored recently at a series of morning coffees and informal brunches have been Mrs. Jack Rowe of Casa Grande, Ariz., and her sister, Mrs. Helen Sheridan of Phoenix, Ariz., who are spending a month in Lincoln as the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Marcy. Mrs. Rowe, who will be remembered as the former LaVerne Marcy, was accompanied to Lincoln by her young son, Stevie. Both Mrs. Rowe and Mrs. Sheridan are graduates of the University of Nebraska and members of Kappa Delta sorority.

Farewell Courtesy

In farewell courtesy to Mrs. Dee Haas, who will leave Lincoln in the near future, with her family, to reside at Phoenix, Ariz., Mrs. Eldon Vergith and Miss Barbara Wood entertained last Friday evening. Fourteen guests were invited for an informal evening.

Had Church Wedding

At a 4 o'clock ceremony solemnized on Sunday, June 30, Miss Janis Gay Cockerill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Cockerill of Gretna, became the bride of J. Edwin McReynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. McReynolds of Ashland. Fan-shaped bouquets of white and pink summer blossoms and greenery appointed the chancel of the First Lutheran Church at Papillion for the service, which was read by the Rev. R. H. Nagler, and Miss Elaine Fidler, organist, played the wedding music. Miss Fidler also accompanied James Feather of Lincoln, the vocal soloist.

Frooked identically in pink polished cotton were Mrs. Wayne Judds of Ashland, as the matron of honor; Miss Ruth Gilbert of Wahoo, the maid of honor; the bridesmaids, Miss Ardie Henderson, Miss Merline Miller and Mrs. Robert Parks of Ashland, and Miss Phyllis Bonner of Imperial; and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Alice Herbrick of Sterling, Colo. The fitted bodices and wide, daytime-length skirts were accented by sashes of lipstick pink cotton and they carried arm bouquets of carnations in matching tone. White lace picture hats completed their ensembles.

Miss Teri Judds of Ashland was the flower girl, and lighting the candles were Mrs. Dean Laune, Ashland, and Miss Rae Beerline, Papillion.

Serving as best man was David McReynolds of Ashland, and seating the guests were Dean Laune, Ashland; Rodney Swanson, Lexington; Burton Weichen-thal, Stanton; Bruce McReynolds, Fairfield; and Bruce Herbrick, Sterling, Colo.

The bride's gown of white silk tulle was designed in the period mode. Imported Chantilly lace framed the portrait neckline and continued over the shoulders to form abbreviated sleeves, which were complemented by long mits of the tulle, and below the elongated bodice, the circular skirt was caught into fullness over underskirts of net and tulle and ended in a cathedral train. A lace crown held to the head her veil of illusion, and she carried a white Bible marked with a single white orchid.

Following a reception for 200 guests in the church parlors, the couple left for a trip to northern Minnesota. They will make their home at Ashland.

Mrs. McReynolds is a senior at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Chi Omega. A June graduate of the University of Nebraska, the bridegroom is a member of Farm House fraternity.

ALL THINGS come to an end, so they say—The Women's State Golf Tournament is over—the Swingfest is over—and June—the month of brides, is over—but not forgotten.

One thing that is continuous, fortunately, is news—and this morning we have some we think you will find interesting—We heard, for example, that Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tallman and their four children, Ann, Betty, Sally, and Frank, Jr., are guests at the home of Mrs. Tallman's mother, Mrs. Frank Boehmer, and grandmother, Mrs. I. G. Chapin.

Mr. Tallman, who has been participating in the Swingfest, and Mrs. Tallman have been on the hop, skip and jump with the numerous Swingfest festivities since their arrival, and will leave on Monday to return to their home in Pueblo, Colo.

AND also on Lincoln's guest list since Saturday, have been Mr. and Mrs. Glen Yetter and their two children, Vicki Jo and Scotty, who arrived from New Orleans to spend two weeks as the guests of Mrs. Yetter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wilson. And the Yetters are thankful that Lincoln is north of New Orleans, rather than east—otherwise they would have been right in the middle of the hurricane.

WE must return to Mrs. Boehmer and Mrs. Chapin for a moment—long enough to tell you that they are expecting another house guest within the next 10 days. She is Miss Betty Farnsworth of Santa Barbara, Calif., and in addition to visiting her grandmother and great-grandmother, she also will spend some time with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Stebbins in Gothenburg—and her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Earl Farnsworth in Grand Island.

AN exceedingly interesting honoree on Saturday when Miss Kay Perrin entertained at luncheon at the Compass Room, was Miss Gabrielle Comte of Fontainebleau, France, who is the house guest of Col. and Mrs. Paul H. Jacobs.

Miss Perrin invited 11 guests for luncheon and an informal afternoon.

LOOKING ahead—as far as next Tuesday evening we find that Miss Carol Ann Jacobs, whose marriage to Harold Jones will take place on July 14, is to be complimented on Tuesday evening when Mrs. Earl Fullbrook and Mrs. Reuben Walt will be hostesses at the home of Mrs. Fullbrook. Sixteen guests have been invited for a dessert supper and a miscellaneous shower.

ANOTHER popular bride-to-be is Miss Hannah Rosenberg whose marriage to David Gradwohl will be solemnized in late August.

On Friday Miss Rosenberg was the honoree at a luncheon when Mrs. Nathan Gold was a luncheon hostess at her home. The nine guests presented the bride-to-be with a vice shower. Miss Rosenberg also has been

Suburbia

It might appear as though we are instigating a "meet your neighbors" week this Monday morning on our weekly jaunt through Cotner Terrace and Northeast Heights, but with all the new residents in the area, introductions are certainly the first and foremost in the order of business.

COTNER TERRACE

Moving into their new Cotner Terrace home the first of June were Mr. and Mrs. Richard I. Hamilton and their children, Peggy and Jenny. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton came to Lincoln four years ago from Vancouver, Canada.

Mr. Hamilton received his masters degree from the University of Nebraska, and is now working on his doctorate in the field of plant pathology.

The address of the Hamilton home is 3015 No. Cotner.

Lt. and Mrs. Larry F. Garrett have recently taken up residence in their new home at 2934 No. Cotner.

Arriving Saturday for a visit with their son and daughter-in-law were Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Garrett of Ames, Ia., and their daughters, Jo Ellen and Tomi.

Another new resident of our suburb is Miss Barbara Jeanne Woodcock, who became a member of the tulle powder set on Monday, June 17, at Bryan Memorial Hospital Barbara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woodcock and her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Welty and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Giles, all of Lincoln.

On Sunday evening, June 23, Maj. and Mrs. Robert Culwell were host and hostess to friends at a patio supper at their home. Included among the guests for the informal affair were Lt. Col. and Mrs. Robert Murphy, Maj. and Mrs. C. K. Hanner, Capt. and Mrs. H. J. Dossbach, Capt. and Mrs. Bernard Morgan, Capt. and Mrs. Bryan Meharg, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Price.

Visiting at the home of Capt. and Mrs. Pierre Pollard last week were Capt. Pollard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Pollard of Kendall, Wis. The couple returned home on Friday.

Honoring Mrs. Pollard during her visit was Mrs. Gordon Ware who entertained at a coffee at her home on Friday, June 21. Ten guests were invited for the morning affair.

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

New residents in the Northeast Heights suburb are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Drozda. The couple moved into their home at 3110 No. 64 the early part of June.

Brides At Sunday Ceremonies

MRS. ROBERT C. HAUPT

Spreading arrangements of pale pink gladioli appointed the chancel of the Second Baptist Church Sunday afternoon, June 30, for the marriage of Miss Beverly Jean Elcher of Seward, to Robert C. Haupt, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Haupt of Cortland. The Rev. Robert Davis read the lines of the 3 o'clock service, and Mrs. Ruth Dennison, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied the vocalist, Jerry Miller.

Wearing alike frocks of crystalline over tulle in varying shades of pink were Mrs. Maurice Elcher of Seward, as the matron of honor; the bridesmaids, Miss Mariellen Hoffstaedt, Lincoln, and Miss Shirley Clark, Roca; and the flower girl, Miss Sandra Kay Dunn. They completed their waltz-length ensembles with nosegays of pink roses.

Gerald Metzner of Cortland served as best man, and the ushers were Robert Johnson, Geneva, and Lurelle Albert, Omaha.

The bride's gown of white Chantilly-type lace and nylon net was worn over satin. A V decollete and long, tapered sleeves accented the sculptured bodice of lace, and the lace was repeated in appliques to trim the very full net skirt. A queen's cap of lace held her illusion veil, and she carried a rounded bouquet of white roses, encircled with white and gold marigolds.

Following the reception in the church parlors, the couple left for a trip to Denver and Yellowstone Park. Mr. and Mrs. Haupt will reside at Milwaukee, Wis.

The bride attended Nebraska Wesleyan University and is a member of Delta Zeta. Mr. Haupt is a former student at Doane College, Crete, and of the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Sigma Tau honorary.

MRS. HENRY H. BLANKE, JR.

The marriage of Miss Phyllis Anne Chard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Chard of Superior, to Henry H. Blanke, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Blanke, also of Superior, was solemnized at an 8 o'clock ceremony on Sunday evening, June 30, at the First Presbyterian Church in Superior.

Miss Janet Gates, as the maid of honor; and the bridesmaids, Miss Shirley Salmon, Miss Mary Thompson, both of Lincoln, and Miss Nancy Kuska of Oshkosh, were alike frocks of pale pink polished cotton. The brief-sleeved bodices, designed with Sabrina necklines, were snugly fitted above the wide, waltz-length skirts. Miss Gates' frock had a cummerbund of rose red chiffon, while the maids had cummerbunds of pale pink chiffon. Each carried a bouquet of pink French daisies. Miss Virginia Kort of Blue Hill, and Miss Barbara Lantz of Holdrege lighted the candles, and Cynthia Greer was the flower girl. Johnny Greer carried the ring.

Jack Blanke of Geneva served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were Charles Barbur, Jerry Crawford, both of Geneva; and Ralph Sponberg.

The bride appeared in a gown of pure silk tulle for her wedding. The long-sleeved, sculptured bodice was designed with a decollete neckline filled with a yoke of lace dotted with sequins. The lace was repeated in floral appliques on the extremely bouffant skirt.

The bride is a graduate of Cotter College, Nevada, Mo., and is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority. Mr. Blanke is a graduate of Doane College, Crete, and for the past four years has been a member of the Superior schools faculty where he was an instructor in speech and dramatics. He is a member of Delta Kappa Pi fraternity.

MRS. JAMES D. BOOTHE

RUNYAN-PATTON
Miss Carol Jean Runyan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Runyan, became the bride of Jerry Patton, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Earl E. Patton of Sheridan, Wyo., at an early evening ceremony solemnized on Sunday, June 30, at the College View Seventh Day Adventist Church. Yellow and white gladioli chiffron against a screen of greenery formed the background for the service, which was read by the Rev. Mr. Patton, father of the bridegroom.

Miss Diana Runyan, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Mary Waldron and Miss Marilyn H. A. P. R. K. S. were identical waltz-length frocks fashioned with basques of yellow lace and full skirts of yellow chiffon over net and taffeta. Miss Linda Chery, Hay was the flower girl, carrying the Bible was Nicky Charles Hay. Randy Lee Runyan, the bride's brother, and Sanford Carl Hay Jr., lighted the candles.

Serving as best man was Ned Swasey of Boulder, Colo., and the ushers were Ted Wick and Oren J. Runyan, brother of the bride.

The bride appeared in a gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle over satin. Tiny pearls and sequins patterned the Sabrina neckline of the long-sleeved bodice, and deep flounces of the lace edged with pleated tulle formed the wide skirt which extended into a train. Her illusion veil was held by a bonnet brim of the lace bordered with pearls, and she carried gardenias interspersed with pale yellow roses.

A reception was held in the church annex. Following a wedding trip to Yellowstone Park, Mr. and Mrs. Patton will reside at 4022 So. 51st. The bridegroom is attending Union College, of which Mrs. Patton is a former student.

BECKER-CLAMP
Lighted white candles and bouquets of white gladioli decorated the chancel of the Evangelical United Brethren Church at Milford Sunday afternoon, June 30, for the wedding of Miss Iris Ann Becker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Becker of Milford, and Wayne Howard Clamp, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Clamp of McCook. The Rev. W. C. Iiff read the lines of the service in the presence of 130 guests, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Wesley Matzke, organist, who also accompanied George Ruml, vocal soloist.

Miss Bonnie Lindau of Sidney, as the maid of honor, Miss Carol Dunker of Dodge, the bridesmaid, and Mrs. Kenneth Hughes of Hartington, the bridesmatron, wore alike frocks of white nylon sheer. Their sleeveless bodices and full, accordion-pleated skirts were sashed in pastel tones of blue, orchid and pink, and they carried fans clustered with small white chrysanthemums and ivy leaves.

Serving as best man was Tony Iwan of Osceola, and seating the guests were Ernie Golus of Loup City and Kenneth Becker of Milford, brother of the bride.

The bride wore for her wedding a gown of white taffeta designed in the princess mode. Appliques of imported lace traced with sequins and seed pearls framed the shoulder-wide decolletage of the bodice, and the extremely full skirt parted at the back to reveal an underskirt of pleated crystallette which formed a whisper train. A plateau cap of jeweled lace held her veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade of white gladioli and ivy leaves.

A reception was held in the church parlors. Upon their return from a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Clamp will reside at Sidney.

The bride attended the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture and is a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron honorary.

FABELLA-TRABERT

For the wedding of Miss Asuncion Aurora Fabella, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Gabriel F. Fabella of the University of the Philippines, Quezon City, Philippines, and Neil S. Trabert, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil S. Trabert, which took place Sunday afternoon, June 30, clusters of lighted white candles and bouquets of white gladioli and daisies appointed the chancel of the First Presbyterian Church. The 4 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by Dr. C. Vin White, and Miss Grace Finch, organist, played the wedding music. Miss Finch also accompanied the vocal soloist, Neil Trabert, father of the bridegroom.

The maid of honor was Miss Oliva Carino of Quezon City, Philippines, who wore a full-skirted frock of Philippine just cloth in mint green embroidered in gold thread in a floral motif. She carried an arrangement of white carnations. Miss Rhonda Kay Eno, niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl.

Serving as best man was Gene Eno, and the ushers were Maj. William R. Sullivan of Jackson, Miss., and Robert E. Roselius.

The bride was given in marriage by Dr. Angel Galang of Bellevue, and chose for her wedding a gown of embroidered white organdy designed in the traditional Philippine terno mode. Large, butterfly sleeves accented the snug bodice, and below the slim waist, the skirt was shirred into extreme fullness. Her illusion veil was held to the head by a tiara of opalescent sequins, and she carried a cascade of white feathered carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the parlors of the church.

A graduate of the University of the Philippines, where she is a member of Sigma Beta sorority, the bride is a Fulbright student at the University of Nebraska where she received her Masters Degree in social work earlier this month. Mr. Trabert is a graduate of Peru State Teachers College and is completing graduate studies at the University of Nebraska.

LUEBBE-BRADEN

At a candlelight service on Sunday evening, June 30, the marriage of Miss Joan Luebke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Luebke of Grand Island, to William J. Braden, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William A. Braden of Kearney, was solemnized at the Zion Lutheran Church in Grand Island. The Rev. A. F. Otto read the lines of the 7:30 o'clock service before a background of candlelight, greenery, and arrangements of red roses. A. C. Bangert, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied the vocal soloist, Miss Donny Coney.

As her sister's maid of honor and only attendant Miss June Luebke appeared in a sheath frock of white silk. White chiffon framed the shoulder line and from a back V the chiffron panels extended to the hem of her frock. Her ensemble was completed with a white tulle picture hat, and she carried a basket bouquet of red roses. The candles were lighted by Miss Vicki Luebke, sister of the bride, and her cousin, Stephen Luebke.

Carl Weber of Kearney served Mr. Braden as best man, and the ushers were Jerry Ingram, also of Kearney, and Ron Bahen-sky, of Palmer.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of tulle applique with re-embroidered lace. The applique, in floral motif, contoured the shoulder-wide decolletage of the long-sleeved bodice, and the applique was repeated in sprays on the voluminous, waltz-length skirt. A contoured half-hat of jeweled lace held in place her shoulder-length veil, and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses on a white Bible.

Following a honeymoon trip to Colorado and Utah, Mr. Braden and his bride will return to Lincoln where they will reside at 701 So. 55th St.

STANDLEY-BOOTHE

Fan arrangements of yellow and white gladioli, pompoms and daisies, and candles in seven-branched holders, appointed the chancel of Memorial Chapel of St. Paul Methodist Church where the wedding of Miss Nancy Ann Standley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Standley, and James D. Boothe, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Boothe of Bassett, Va., took place on Sunday afternoon, June 30. The 3 o'clock service was solemnized by Dr. Frank Court, and Houghton Furr, organist, played the wedding music.

Miss Bonnie Fought of Grand Junction, Colo., the maid of honor and only attendant, was frocked in yellow, embroidered tulle, fashioned with a fitted bodice and a bouffant, waltz-length skirt. A picture hat in matching tone completed her ensemble, and she carried a colonial bouquet of yellow carnations encircled with white net.

Betrothal Announced

MISS NORALEE DYER

Announcement is being made of the engagement of Miss Noralee Dyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Swift of Savanna, Ill., to Donald L. Schamp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Schamp of Central City.

The wedding will be an event of Sept. 21, and the ceremony will be solemnized at St. Mary's Cathedral. The bride-elect is employed by the University of Nebraska.

LT. (JG) AND MRS. JOHN EDWARD CRAIG

At the Parke Memorial Chapel in Honolulu, T. H., the marriage of Miss Shirley Rae Posson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Posson of Chadron, to Lt. (JG) John Edward Craig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward John Craig of Gibson Island, Md., took place on Monday, June 25. The Rev. Dean Cox solemnized the service before a background of white agapanthus.

Miss Janet Friederich, the maid of honor and only attendant, wore a frock of pale rose lace over matching taffeta, with a frock-toned cummerbund of chiffron that extended into hem-length back panels. She carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds and pink carnations.

Lt. Cmdr. Robert Ohsiek served Lt. Craig as best man, and seating the guests were Li-utenants, Junior Grade, G. P. Klose, A. L. Fish, E. P. Trott, I. B. Heatley, E. M. O'Brien and J. W. Edelman. The ushers formed an arch of sabers as the bride and bridegroom left the chapel.

The bride appeared in a floor-length gown of silk taffeta designed with a shoulder-wide neckline in a long-sleeved fitted bodice, and a bouffant skirt. She wore her mother's wedding veil of illusion which was held to the head with a bandeau of pikake, and carried a lei bouquet of stephanotis and pikake. Her only ornament was a strand of heirloom pearls belonging to the bridegroom's mother.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, and now is home economist with the Honolulu Gas Co. Lt. Craig was graduated from Princeton University, and is stationed with the Navy Air Force at Barbers Point, Oahu.

DEPLANE'S

POSTCARD

We flew down to Rome from Geneva the other day. A sunny Swissair flight over the Alps. The Swiss fly all over the world and are proud of their airline.

"All our pilots are Swiss Army pilots," said the Customs man at the airport. "Used to mountain flying. On maneuvers they swoop into a valley with machine guns firing. Up they go like light!" he made a swooping motion with his hands—"just barely over the mountain tops."

"This is the way they fly to Rome?" I asked nervously.

"Ha, ha. Of course not. To Rome they fly with the greatest of ease and comfort. I tell you what they CAN do only to comfort you."

"I like comfort. Thank you."

"When Geneva is fogged in, the foreign pilots will not land on the emergency fields. They run down valleys and you can only land one way. No matter which way the wind is blowing."

"The foreign pilots do not like this. But the Swiss—ah, the Swiss, they love it."

Thanks be, the loving Swiss held in their loving inclination to land in one-way valleys. We climbed out of Geneva through clouds and burst into brilliant sunshine above.

The stewardesses made their announcement: In French, English, Italian and German. They spoke German among themselves. They were healthy, buxom girls. They looked as though they had been scrubbed daily and fed on Swiss chocolate.

They brought around little plates of sandwiches. All my tour ladies brightened up.

We are a gourmet tour. Many of my ladies are between-meals gourmets.

"Would you like some M-and-M's?"

One of my ladies put her head out in the hotel corridor the other day. She gave me a surreptitious, "Psst."

"What are M-and-M's, ma'am?" "They are on television all the time. Very good."

My lady dug in her super-market purse. Way down to the bottom. She pulled out a brown paper sack. It was full of little colored pellets. About the size of those vitamin pills that have everything in it.

I took one. She took one. Candy. Good.

I have a lady who has been looking forward to Swiss chocolate.

"The kind with some kind of sweet liquid inside."

"Cherries?" "No, not cherries. They are full of juice. But," she said, "you must pop it ALL in your mouth at once. If you bite it, it squirts."

We found some the other day.

If you bite them, they squirt. True. My lady is a very abstemious lady. She takes only a little wine. Just to be a good sport. But she loves chocolates that squirt.

I think I should tell her that what squirts is Kirsch—cherry brandy.

One non-squirting bite is equal to one straight shot.

I have withheld this information from her, though. I think she is happier this way. After three or four chocolates she is very happy and her eyes shine. I am no kill-joy. I take a chocolate with her. I don't think she should eat alone.

The plane snacks were little slices of ham. With a rosette of liverwurst topped with red piment.

We ate the snacks. Then we had a few chocolates. We popped them in whole so they would not squirt on the Swiss upholstery.

The lady would have sent a few forward to the pilot. But I said no.

"I do not think these chocolates would be good for the pilot."

You never can tell, is what I figure. With mountain-loving pilots and a few noggins of chocolate-covered Kirsch, we might have made a swoop landing on a one-way strip.

SOX LEGS SWEETENED ALL-STAR TEAM

No Surprises On All-Star Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick announced Sunday the starting lineups, other than the pitchers, of the American and National League All-Star teams for the July 9 game at St. Louis. As expected the National League team is composed of five Cincinnati players and Stan Musial, of St. Louis, while the American League team has four players from the Sox and one from the Yankees.

Musial, Mays and Aaron are the three players Frick named on Friday, disregarding a deluge of late Cincinnati ballots in the fan poll.

Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees head the American Leaguers.

The starters:

AMERICAN LEAGUE
 1B—Vic Wertz, Cleveland
 2B—Nelson Fox, Chicago
 3B—George Kell, Baltimore
 SS—Harvey Kuenn, Detroit
 LF—Ted Williams, Boston
 CF—Mickey Mantle, New York

NATIONAL LEAGUE
 1B—Stan Musial, St. Louis
 2B—Johnny Temple, Cincinnati
 3B—Don Hoak, Cincinnati
 SS—Roy McMillan, Cincinnati
 LF—Frank Robinson, Cincinnati
 CF—Willie Mays, New York
 RF—Hank Aaron, Milwaukee
 C—Ed Bailey, Cincinnati

To be named later by Manager Walt Alston of Brooklyn.

In announcing the final result of the fan balloting, Frick's office indicated the barrage of last week's 550,000 votes from Cincinnati.

Had the commissioner not acted Gus Bell and Wally Post of the Redlegs would have started in center and right field, respectively. However, the final tabulation showed Musial did not need Frick's help. He finished with 363, 792 votes to 272,655 for George Crowe, the other Cincinnati player Frick barred as a starter along with Bell and Post.

Frick took his action because "an over-balance of Cincinnati ballots has resulted in the selection of a team which would not be typical of the league and which would not meet with the approval of the fans the country over."

Williams got the most votes in the American League, 255,969 to 253,101 for Mantle.

DEMONS DEFEAT CHIEFS

Stuart Slams 9th Homer

DES MOINES (AP) — Des Moines and Central Iowa honored native son Bob Feller Sunday night and the Demons made the occasion a success by beating Lincoln, 7-2, before 4,147.

The Chiefs' Dick Stuart belted his ninth home run in 15 games but it came long after Lincoln had kicked the game away.

Four Lincoln errors gave the Demons five unearned runs, including three in the third inning when they sewed up the decision with a four-run outburst. Dick Johnson and Dick Bertell each singled home two runs.

Two errors by shortstop Ken Hamlin, his second and third of the night, helped the Demons to

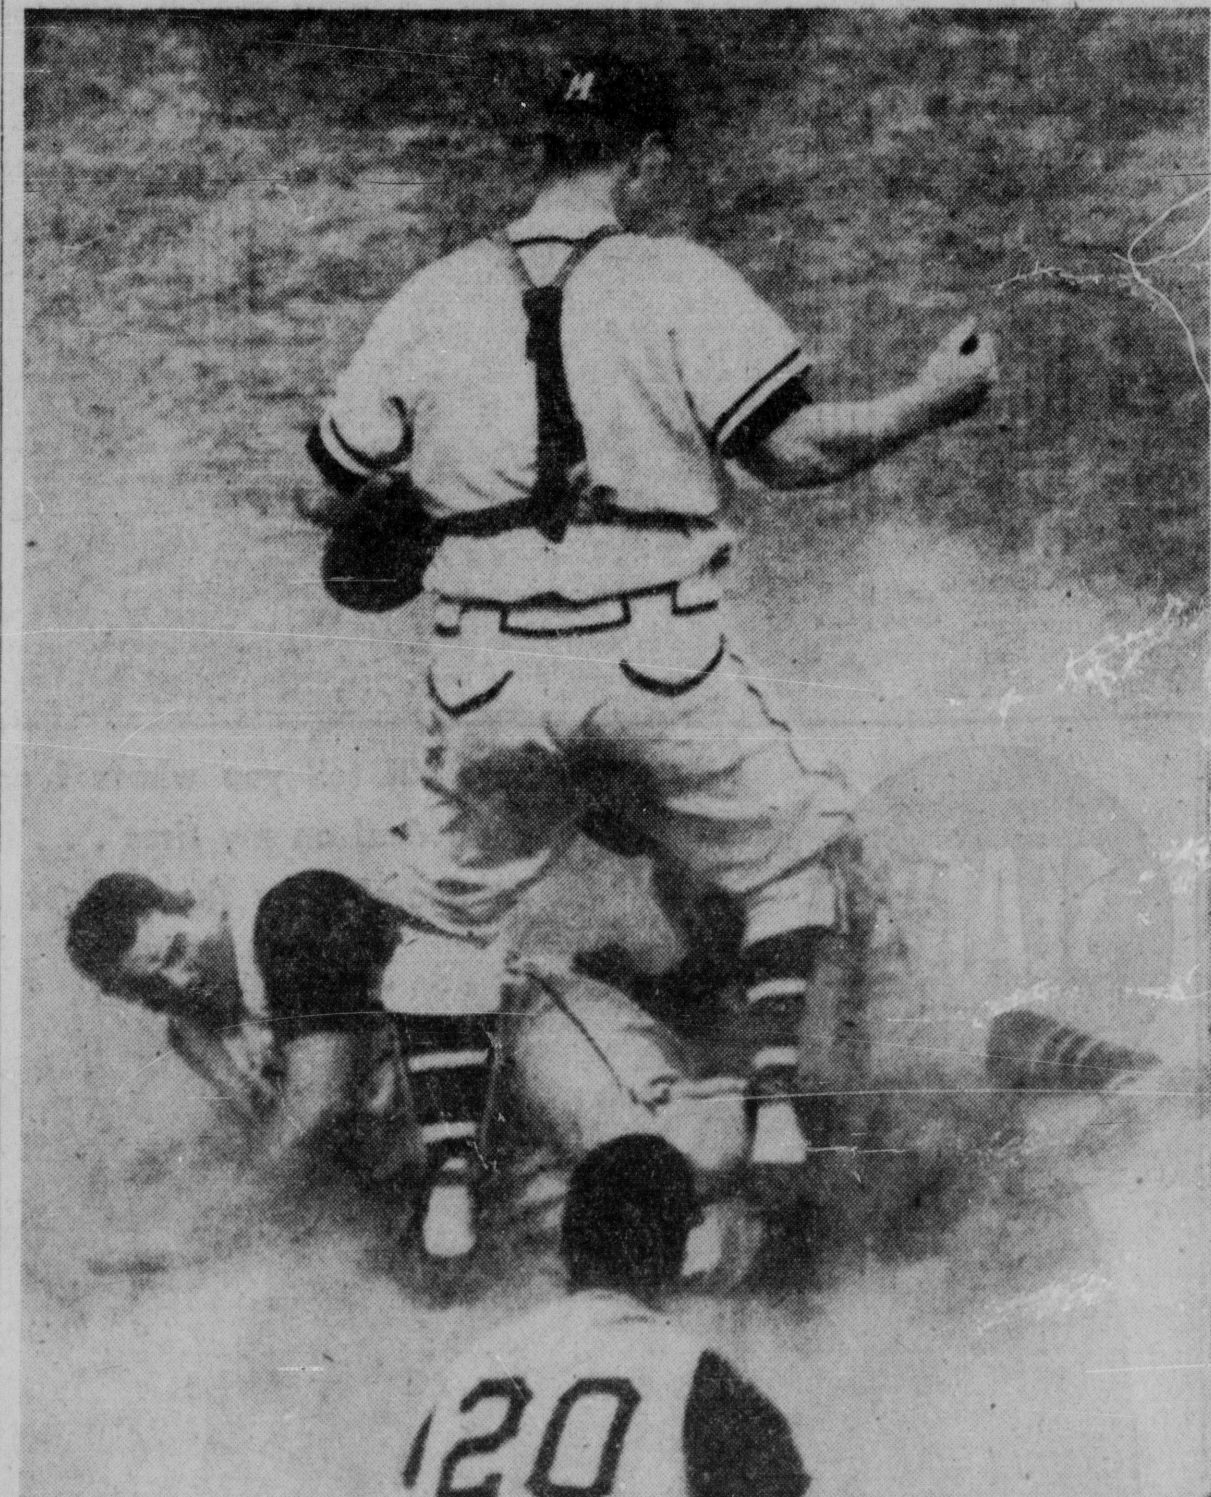

Lawrence Peps Both Triumphs

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Redlegs used superior power and six-hit pitching in each game Sunday, sweeping the double-header from Philadelphia's Phillies, 6-1 and 6-2, with righthander Brooks Lawrence getting in on both games.

Lawrence took his ninth win going the route in the opener, then came on with a bases-loaded situation in the ninth inning of the nightcap to snuff out a big Phil's threat.

Redleg reliever Don Gross ran into trouble in the ninth, walking

The play occurred in the eighth inning of the second of the twin bill when Pirate Bill Mazeroski hit a double with the bases loaded. Hank Foiles scored first, and as Freese made the turn for home, Mejias caught up with him and hit the dirt at the same time. Foiles (20) is watching the action. (AP Wirephoto).

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant
 Sports Editor, The Star

In Cincinnati they may be fuming about Ford Frick's decision to overrule them on the All Star lineup. In Chicago, New York, Brooklyn, St. Louis, Philly, Milwaukee, Cleveland and Detroit they may be looking forward to pennants. And the same might even be true of Topeka in our own backyard.

But, gang, there's football in the air.

The mailman has delivered the 1957 NCAA Football Guide, complete with predictions and post mortems.

By flipping the pages of this book—Iowa's Alex Karras is pictured on the cover—you can while away the hot July days, dreaming of the smashing blocks, bruising tackles, booming punts and whistling passes which will be bursting on the scene within two short months.

Bob Busby of the Kansas City Star once again previews the Big Seven grid race, and he's pegged the Nebraska Cornhuskers for fifth place.

It will be Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas, Kansas State, Nebraska, Missouri and Iowa State, says Busby.

Other teams on Nebraska's schedule are highly rated by the July experts. Art Morrow of the Philadelphia Inquirer has this to say about Pittsburgh (there on Oct. 12):

"Pitt, of course, always is powerful, and this year should prove no exception. All-American end Joe Walton has been graduated, but Johnny Michelone still has Charley Brueckman, his jolting linebacker. He also has Bill Kaliden, a tailback type of runner and passer who may shift to 't' emphasis from T to single-wing in the Panthers' style of varied offense."

Syracuse (here Oct. 19) gets this quib: "Despite the loss of All-American Jimmy Brown, Syracuse looks for continued success. Ben Schwartzwalder still has Dick Lasse, regarded by many as the best end in the East, and Ernie Jackson, who is not the slowest back."

Morrow sums up the East this way: "Along with Syracuse and the two Pennsylvania powers (Pitt and Penn State), the service academies (Army and Navy) probably will prove the class of the East."

Nebraska tackles Army on Sept. 25 the second game, at West Point—which means the Huskers will play three of the

Cards Split With Giants

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bonus Baby Lindy McDaniel, with home runs by Stan Musial, Del Ennis and Hobie Landrith checked the record New York Giants Sunday, 7-1, in the second game of a doubleheader. The Giants Ruben Gomez achieved his 10th victory—tops in the National League—with a thrifty six-hitter, 5-3, in the first game as Willie Mays crashed two triples and a double.

McDaniel scored his eighth victory as Musial, hitless in four first game attempts, knocked in three runs with his first inning home run, and Del Ennis pounded a two-run homer in the third off reliever Al Worthington, second of four Giant pitchers.

The nightcap victory meant the Red Birds salvaged the last contest in a four-game series from the hoh-running Easterns who dropped only their fifth game in their last 20.

Mays pounded across two runs in the first contest in which the

Braves Keep Lead; Trim Bucs Twice

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves clung to their half-game lead over the Cincinnati Redlegs in the National League race by sweeping a doubleheader from the Pittsburgh Pirates before 36,283 at County Stadium Sunday.

They won the first game, 7-4, on a five-run rally in the eighth inning and the second, 6-5, on Eddie Mathews' two-run homer in the 13th.

Mathews' home run, his 16th of the season, gave the Braves their sixth straight victory and salvaged a game that appeared to have been won by the Pirates in the top of the 13th. Dick Groat's sacrifice fly had scored Bill Mazeroski, who had led off with a single, with the run that put the Pirates in front temporarily.

In the first game, Mantilla broke a 2-2 tie with a two-run eighth inning single, and the Braves went on to score three more times off Vernon Law. Until then, Law and Bob Trowbridge had waged a 2-2 duel, the Braves scoring on home runs by Aaron in the first and Carl Sawatski in the seventh and the Pirates on three singles and a bouncer in the fourth.

39 Whiff As Cubs, Brooks Spit Twin Bill

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie southpaw Danny McDevitt hurled the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 5-1 victory Sunday after the Chicago Cubs had won the first game of a doubleheader 3-2 on Ernie Banks' running double in the 11th inning. Twenty-seven Dodgers struck out in the two games for one major league record and the addition of 12 Cub whiffs set a two-club major mark of 39.

Indiana Prep 'Star-Of-Stars' Cager Picks NU

Albert Maxey, 19-year-old high school basketball sensation from Indianapolis, Ind., will enroll at the University of Nebraska this fall, Husker basketball coach Jerry Bush said Sunday night.

A product of Crispus Attucks High School, Maxey has signed a Nebraska grant-in-aid blank, and has announced in Indiana that he will become a Cornhusker.

Last week he was named the "Star-Of-Stars" in the annual Indiana-Kentucky All-Star high school basketball game, played before 14,000 at Indianapolis.

The 6-3 whizz was voted the top player of the game by the sports writers and broadcasters covering the classic. He tallied 24 points on 11 field goals and two free throws.

Maxey plans to study art at Nebraska, Bush said.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles routed the Cleveland Indians 12-3 Sunday behind the four-hit pitching of Loes. It was the seventh straight win for Loes and his ninth victory over-all.

The triumph moved the Orioles, winners of seven of their last eight, within a half-game of the fifth-place Detroit Tigers.

Loes, the rejuvenated Brooklyn Dodger who has lost only three games, made only one slip. Gene Woodling slammed for his fourth homer in the fourth inning with two on.

Otherwise, the 28-year-old right hander let only one Indian reach third—in the ninth inning. He struck out nine batters and got the side out in order in six innings.

The heads-up Orioles capably mixed up six sacrifices with timely hitting and four Cleveland errors.

Cameron Doctor Stayed With Injured After Hearing 3 Of His Children Died

Storm Killed 3 Daughters

By IRWIN FRANK
CAMERON, La. (AP) — Dr. Cecil Clark, the only doctor in this coastal city devastated by hurricane Audrey, will be remembered by the town's people here long after the last sign of the storm's destructiveness is removed.

The 32-year-old family doctor to the 2,500 persons in this town stayed at a makeshift hospital 24 hours after he learned that three of his five children had perished in the hurricane.

"He just kept working, taking care of the injured as though nothing had happened," said C. W. Faulk, a 31-year-old Cameron resident.

"I've known him all my life and he did just like we thought he would. He took care of everyone who was brought in here. You never saw the likes of it. He finally left Friday when other doctors came," Faulk said.

House Destroyed
Clark's house, called the show-place of Cameron, was destroyed by the flood. His wife and three daughters were in the house with the housekeeper when the storm was at its worst. The family climbed to the roof of the house, hoping that there they would find refuge from the steadily rising water.

Only minutes before the storm's brunt was felt, Clark left his home to take care of a patient at the Cameron Medical Center. He never saw his daughters alive again.

Within 30 minutes after he left, the tidal wave hit with full force. His house collapsed and Mrs. Clark was swept into the water with their 2-month-old baby girl clutched in her arms.

Somehow, Mrs. Clark does not recall now, she floated about 20 miles in the water. Her baby was torn from her arms during the ordeal. The infant has not been found.

The housekeeper and the two other girls also have not been found.

Sons Survive
The only children to survive were the couple's two sons who were visiting grandparents near Grand Chenier.

Roland Trosclair, 32, a Cameron resident, said Clark left for Lake Charles Friday to seek his wife only after other physicians arrived.

The young doctor was reunited with Mrs. Clark at Lake Charles. Then he took a boat back to Cameron to help identify the dead, assist in funeral arrangements and resume his care of the townspeople.

Mrs. Clark remained behind at Lake Charles under the care of Dr. and Mrs. George B. Briel. Trosclair said he was with Clark for hours during the time he worked at the first aid station. "It was wonderful to see how he acted. I was with him and he never complained," he said.

St. Andrew's Lutheran Breaks Ground

Ground-breaking ceremonies for St. Andrew's Lutheran Church in Meadow Lane, were held Sunday morning with the Rev. Walter J. Morris, pastor of the congregation, officiating. St. Andrew's will be on contemporary design, will provide seating for 150 at worship, a maximum of 16 classrooms, office space and a temporary kitchen. The church was designed by Arter and Speece, and Virgil Mohr has been awarded the construction contract for the $36,000 building. The congregation expects to occupy the new building by the first of next year. Pictured at the ceremonies are: (l. to r.) the Rev. Morris; Kenneth Anderson, vice chairman of the board of deacons and Sunday School superintendent; Donald Broman, chairman of the board of trustees, and Lee Almquist, chairman of the building committee.

Omaha Woman Wounded During Cafe Shooting

OMAHA (AP) — Iva Davis, 32, of Omaha was in serious condition at a hospital Sunday night with bullet wounds of the right shoulder, abdomen and both legs.

Police said Herbert H. Brooks, 29, had admitted shooting the woman at a Near North Side cafe early Sunday.

Brooks gave himself up Sunday afternoon. He told officers he fired at the woman after an argument.

Omahan Injured In Elevator Shaft Fall

OMAHA (AP) — Ted Anderson, 30-year-old bellhop, was in critical condition Sunday night with injuries suffered in an accidental fall down an elevator shaft at the Hotel Sheraton-Fontenelle.

Anderson suffered a skull fracture in the two-story fall to a pit in a sub-basement early Sunday.

Police said Anderson did not realize the elevator had been moved to an upper floor and stepped through the opening.

Vic: People Like State-Run U.S. Aid

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Governor Victor Anderson said Sunday he believes "it is the thinking of the people of Nebraska that we could work out matters better ourselves on many federal grant-in-aid programs."

The governor and his family returned to Lincoln Sunday after a busy week which included attending the Governors Conference at Williamsburg, luncheon at the White House and visit with the Nebraska congressional delegation and a two-day stop in New York City.

Following the President's proposal at Williamsburg that steps be taken to transfer back to the states many federal aid programs in order to cut income taxes, Anderson suggested that part of the federal income tax funds be given to the states to handle some of the programs.

No Tax Cut

Anderson said it was the opinion of many of the governors at the conference that federal income taxes would not be cut even if the states did take over some of the grant-in-aid programs.

Governor Anderson said it was his opinion that these programs should come out of income tax funds, "especially for states like ours where property taxes already carry a lot of the burden."

On this basis, Gov. Anderson suggested to Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams and Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons that study be given to turning back part of the federal income tax revenue to the states to carry out some of the projects.

The White House aides told the Nebraska governor that consideration would be given his proposal.

Will Appoint Committee

Anderson said Gov. William Stratton of Illinois will soon appoint a committee of governors who will study the President's proposal. Eisenhower also will appoint a committee to study the matter and consult with the governors committee.

"We've heard many times in our state that we don't want to accept money for certain federal aid projects," Anderson said, "but we have to take it because it's our share of the taxes we pay, and if we don't take it, other states will get our money."

Right Step

The governor said he thought the proposal to have states take over some of the programs is a "step in the right direction and has a lot of merit."

Commenting on his visit with the Nebraska congressional delegation, Anderson said Sens. Curtis and Hruska are pleased with the state's crop prospects this year. The governor said delegation members told him they have not received nearly so much mail this year about the farm issue since the heavy spring rains cut the drought.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS By Arthur 'Bugs' Boer

We're cracking loose on the long weekend that totalitarians will never understand. After squawking about the tax on tea we added cream and sugar.

Bugs Boer

Our economy is built on the Newtonian law of second guesses. You're never satisfied when the glass holds more than the bottle.

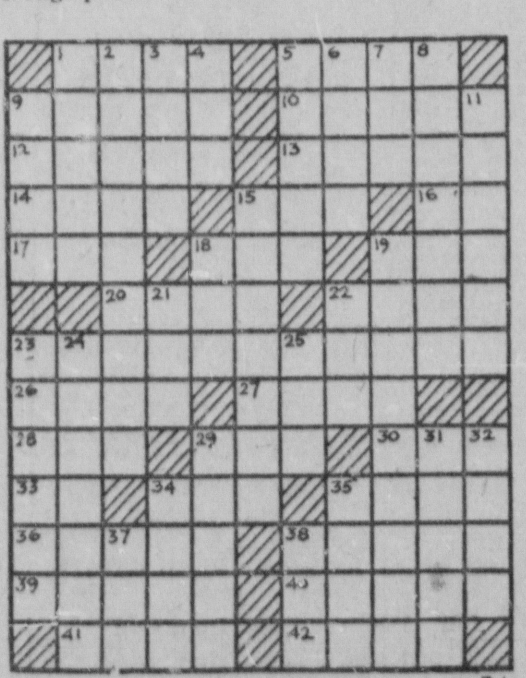

But we don't repudiate debts and we pay off like a slot machine. We stand shoulder-to-shoulder all year round. And bumper-to-bumper on holidays.

Feminine Invader

Twenty years ago I personally invited Shuckelgruber and Mussolini over to see what we do to each other over the long weekend. What other nation is so rich a Boy Scout starts a forest fire just to cook a hot dog?

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

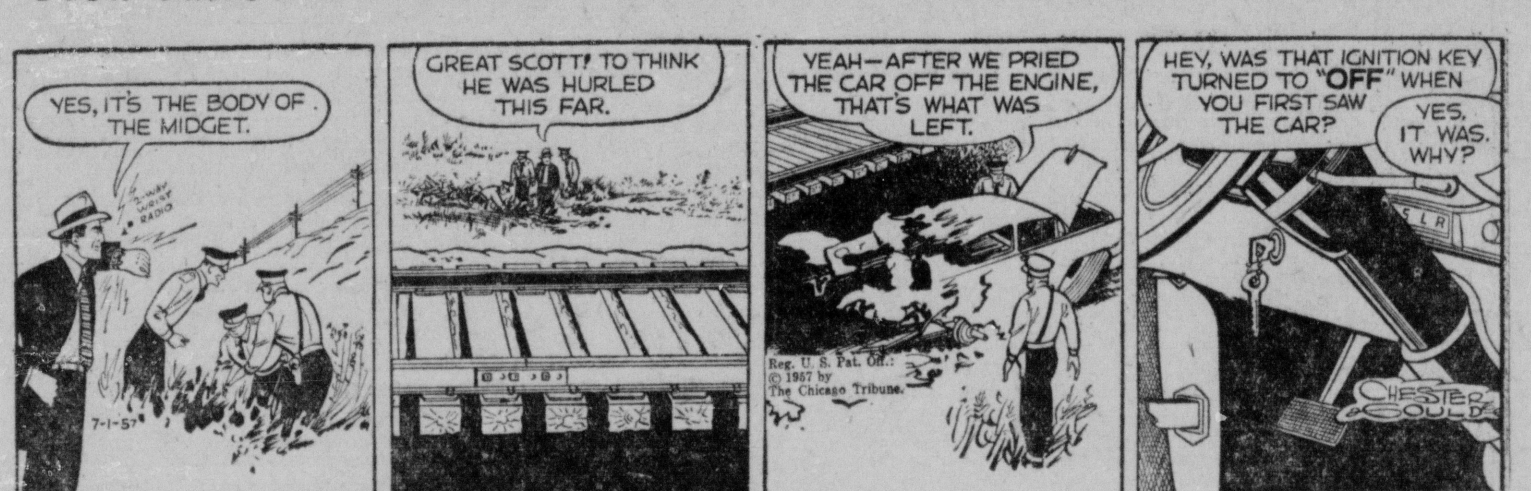

One letter simply stands for another, in this example A is used for the three L's. For the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all clues. Each day the code letters are different.
